The Epistle Dedicatory.

this my Presentation, give me leave to proclaim to the World my deep Resentments of late Favors bestowed upon me, those good Incouragements in my way of Livelyhood ; which, under God, I must and ever shall owe to your Goodness. And seeing, Noble Sir, I know you expect Thanks rather than Complements, let no man accuse me of Vanity, if I profess a great satisfaction to my self in this (that I hope) Heaven hath given me a heart to be thankful, and to take due notice of such great Instruments of Good towards me. Sir, my humble Prayers shall not be wanting therefore for the continuance of your days in Peace and Prosperity, to the Comfort of your Self, Friends, and all that are obliged to you, whom I know to be not a few, among whom I also am glad to reckon my self, Noble Sir, 22 JY 68

Your most Humble,

And ever Obliged Servant

Obadiah Blagrove.

2 An Introduction to Astrology.

These twelve Signs constitute the four Elements or Complexions, and are divided into four Triplicities as followeth.

☿ ♌ ♍ Constitute the Fiery Triplicity, and are by nature hot and dry.

♈ ♊ ♉ Constitute the Airy Triplicity, and are by nature hot and moist.

♋ ♍ ♎ Doth constitute the Earthy Triplicity, and are by nature cold and dry.

♏ ♐ ♑ Constitute the Watry Triplicity, which is by nature cold and moist.

The Signs have also divers other divisions and affections, which I have elsewhere expressed together with their particular use and application.

The Five Aspects of the Planets with their Characters.

♌ Conjunction. That is when any two Planets are in one and the same degree in any Sign. It's also called a Platick Conjunction, when they are within the moiety of each others Orbs; what that is I have shewed elsewhere.

* Sextile. That is, when any two Planets are sixty Degrees from each other; and containeth a sixth part of the Zodiack, or two Signs.

□ Square. That is, when two Planets are within ninety Degrees of each other, and containeth a fourth part of the Zodiack, or three Signs.

△ Trine. That is, when two Planets are one hundred and twenty degrees from each other; and containeth a third part of the Zodiack, or four Signs.

♌ Opposition. That is, when any two Planets are 180 Degrees from each other; and containeth half the Zodiack, or six Signs.

Note that there are thirty Degrees in every Sign, and in every degree sixty minutes. Two Signs making a Sextile Aspect, three Signs a Square, four Signs a Trine, six Signs make an Opposition, which contains half the Zodiack. The whole being 360 degrees, which is twelve times 30. There are other Aspects sometimes used: But in regard they work but little or no effect, I thought best to omit them.

Of the Use of the Ephemeris, Intituled the Dayly Motions of the Planets and Dragons Head. Also the Lunar Aspects.

The first Column on the left hand sheweth the days of the month; the second sheweth the days of the week; the third Column sheweth the dayly motion of Saturn; and the Sign next beneath his Character sheweth what Sign he is in; and the number 6 next beneath sheweth how far he is entred into that Sign, for every day; the first number is degrees, the second minutes, and so forward for every Planet accordingly: Example, the first day h is 13 deg. 18 min. entred into the Sign ♊ ; the second day he is 13 deg. 25 min. the third day he is 13 deg. 32 min. in ♊ , and so downwards; the next Column hath ♄ over-head, and the Sign ♈ beneath; and under that the numbers 1 deg. 35 min. in the same line which answereth unto the first day of the month, which sheweth that ♄ is entred into the Sign ♈ so far the first day; the second day he is but 1 deg. 32 min. the third day but 1 deg. 30 min. and so downwards. This Planets numbers lessen every day, by reason ♄ is retrograde, and moveth backwards, as all the rest of the Planets will sometimes (except the Sun and Moon.) In the next Column is ♃ over-head, and the Sign ♌ beneath, and under that in a right line over against the first day is 19 deg. 15 min. which sheweth that ♃ is the first day entred 9 deg. 15 min. into the Sign ♌ ; and the second day 10 deg. 1 min. the third day 10 deg. 47 min. and so downwards. By the same rule you may do the rest of the Planets, according as they are set down in order.

Of

Of the Lunar Aspects, together with the Planets Mutual Aspects.

The first Column on the left hand sheweth the days of the month. The other six Columns shew what Aspect each Planet beareth unto the Moon with the day and hour. Example, the first day in a right Line under the Character of the Sun you shall find Δ 6, which sheweth that the Sun is in Trine to the Moon at six a clock the first day and in a right line over against the second day under the Planet h is Δ 23, which sheweth that Saturn is in Trine to the Moon the second day, the twenty third hour Afternoon which is by account, at eleven a clock the next morning, for all Astrologers begin the day at Noon. Likewise in a right Line on the second day under the Planet ♃ is ♌ 0, which sheweth, that Jupiter is in Conjunction with the Moon just at Noon. And in the same Line upon the second day under the Planet ♂ is \square 18, which sheweth that Mars is in square to the Moon, the eighteenth hour after Noon, which by account is six a clock the next morning. Likewise in the same Line you shall find under the Character of the Planet ♀ , ♄ 22, which sheweth that Venus is in Opposition of the Moon the twenty second hour afternoon, that by account is ten a clock the next morning; and so of the rest. The word Occident. under h , sheweth that Saturn is Westward of the Sun, and setteth after him. And the word Orient. under ♀ sheweth that she is Eastward of the Sun, and riseth before him: and so of the rest. And in the last Column under the Title, The Planets Mutual Aspects, over against the third day of the month of every House, as by the Figure appeareth, viz. For the Cusp of the first House, the Sign ♈ 10, this House is usually called the Ascendant; the Second House, ♊ 13; the third House, ♋ 20; the tenth House, ♏ 8; the eleventh House, ♐ 21; the twelfth House, ♑ 8. These six Houses being framed, the other six Houses are opposite according unto their Signs and Numbers as they are situate in the Zodiack. And so the seventh House and Sign being opposite unto the Ascendant, is ♎ 19; the sixth House ♌ 8, being opposite unto ♐ 8, belonging unto the Cusp of the twelfth House. And so of the rest, as by the Figure appeareth.

How to insert the Planets in the Figure before mentioned, being set for the ninth day of January, 1669.

According unto the day and month afore said, in that Page, intituled, The daily motions of the Planets and Dragons Head, we shall find upon the ninth day that ♄ is in 14 deg. 14 min. in the Sign ♈ , which is accordingly set in the Ascendant. And in the next Column in the same line we shall find ♅ to be 1 deg. 19 min in the Sign ♉ , which is set in the third House of the Figure. ♆ in 15 deg. 21 min. ♇ a Sign intercepted in the Ascendant. The ♄ newly entred into the Sign ♈ , placed in the twelfth House: and ♈ is set in 20 deg. 15 min. of the Sign ♏ near the Cusp of the eleventh House; and ♉ in 10 deg of ♐ in the twelfth House. The Moon in the Ephemeris for the ninth day is set down 25 deg. 15 min. of Leo, but in regard the Figure was set for 15 min. past eight a clock, we must deduct 2 deg. 15 min. for the almost four hours motion which the Moon wanted of time from noon; noon, and so insert for the place of the Moon 23 degrees of the Sign Leo in the seventh House. The Dragons Head is near 16 degrees in Taurus; and then the Dragons Tail is always set opposite. The part of Fortune charactered thus ☿ , is placed in three degrees of the Sign Virgo in the seventh House, and is always placed so far distant from the Cusp of the Ascendant, as the Sun is distant from the Moon. And how it is to be taken, shall next be shewed.

The Part of Fortune is taken by the distance of the Sun from the Moon, and projecting from the Ascendant; Example in the Figure following; First, I set down the place of the Moon, which accounted from Aries is four Signs, twenty three degrees, from which I substract the place of the Sun, viz. in 10 Signs, 00 degrees (adding twelve Signs to the place of the Moon, that subtraction may be made) and the Remainder is six Signs twenty three degrees, to which I add the Ascendant, reckoned as before, viz. ten Signs, ten degrees, and the Sum is seventeen Signs, three degrees, from which deducting the Circle, or twelve Signs, and the remainder is the place of the Part of Fortune, viz. in five Signs, three Degrees, as in the Figure following may be seen.

A Table of the Essential Dignities of the Planets:

[illegible]

The

The Use of the foregoing Table.

The first Column on the Left Hand hath Twelve Signs set down under each other with the word Signs over head. The second Column sheweth the Masculine and Feminine Degrees in those twelve Signs before-mentioned. All those Columns following are called the Table of the Essential Dignities, and is usually inserted in all Almanacks which have the daily motions of the Planets, whose use followeth. The first Column on the left hand hath the twelve Signs set down under each other, with the word Signs over-head. The second Column sheweth what Planet owneth those twelve Signs for their Houses, with the words Houses of the Planets over head. The Letter D stands for Day, and N for Night. And so ♂ D sheweth, that ♀ is the Day-House of ♂, and so of the rest. The third Column hath ☉ 19, with the word Exaltation over head, which sheweth the Sun is exalted in Aries, unto the nineteenth degree thereof; and so of the rest. The fourth Column hath ☿ 4 and the Letter D set over the Sun, and N over Jupiter. And over that the word Triplicity, which sheweth, that the Sun rules the Fiery Triplicity by day, and Jupiter by night, and so of the rest. The five next Columns have these words over head, viz. The Terms of the Planets. The first Column hath ♈ 6, the second Column ♀ 14, and so forward, which sheweth, that the first six degrees of Aries belong unto the Terms of Jupiter; and from 6 unto 14 deg. of Aries, are the Terms of Venus, and so forward. The next three Columns have the Faces of the Planets writ over head. And on the top of the first first Column ♂ 10, which sheweth, that the first ten degrees of Aries belong unto the Face of Mars. And from ten degrees unto twenty degrees is the Face of the Sun, and so of the rest. The next Column hath the word Detriment over head, and ♀ next beneath, which sheweth, that Venus is in detriment, so long as she is in the Sign Aries, by reason it's a Sign opposite unto her House, being ♎, and so of the rest. The last Column hath the word, Fall, over head, and the Planet ♄ beneath, which sheweth, that Saturn is in his Fall so long as he is in the Sign Aries, by reason Saturn is exalted in Libra, the Sign opposite. By this Table we find all the Essential Dignities and Debilities of the Planets, by their being in any of the twelve Signs.

The Use of the foregoing Table.

In Nativities or Decumbitures of Sick People, if the Ascendant, Sixth House, or their Lords, or the Moon be afflicted in any of the Signs before-mentioned, look in what Sign the Significator is in: in that Limb or Member of the Body signified thereby shall the grief or infirmity be accordingly: as instance, if Saturn be Significator of the sick person, and in Cancer, then the grief will be in the reins or belly, or both: in a Nativity it sheweth some mark or defect in those parts; and the more, if it happens to be in Signs of Azimen, or deficient degrees. Note that every Planet in his own House governeth the Head, so well as that Member which the Sign doth represent, and so forward in the next Sign he governeth Neck and Throat.

The Use of the Foregoing Table.

In Nativities and Horary Questions, if \oplus be strong, and well dignified, and that the Second House, or it's Lord hath any good aspect thereunto; then we judge the Native or Querent will be rich, and gain wealth by his own industry. But if well aspected by the Lords of other Houses, then the Native or Querent may expect Wealth from those who are signified thereby. As if from the Lord of the third, then by a Kinsman. If from the fourth, then his Father. The seventh his Wife. The ninth by Merchandising. If from the tenth, by some Office, &c. Also in a question of Theft, if the Significator of the Thief doth dispose of the Querents \oplus it not only confirmeth the Judgment, but also denoteth, that the Goods is with the Thief. It's also useful in the case of Strays amongst Cattle; for the Sign where \oplus is together with its Lord doth help much to the discovery of the place, and way of the Cattle strayed, as I have oft-times experienced.

ConcerningConcerning the Nature and Signification of the Twelve Houses.The First House.

THe first House is usually called the Ascendant, and doth represent the person of the Native or Querent. In Eclipses great Conjunctions and yearly Revolutions, it represents the common people, and general state of that Kingdom or Nation where the Figure is erected.

It also represents the Head and Face of the Native or Querent: and when any evil Planets are therein, either at birth, or at the time of any question, it usually sheweth a blemish therein, or otherwise in that member appropriate to the Sign, and if few degrees ascend, then the Mark, Mole or Scar will be on the upper part, and so downward according vnto the number of degrees ascending. This House is Masculine. And of Colours it signifieth white. And in Nativities or Horary Questions when the chief Significator is in this House, it sheweth the complexion of the Native or Querent to be whitely, and that they delight to go in white or grey Cloaths.

The Consignificators of this House are the Sign Aries, and the Planet Saturn; Aries, as being the first Sign; and Saturn, as being the highest Planet.

Mercury doth joy in this House, because it represents the Head: and he ruleth over the operative or actional part of the Brain: if Mercury be well dignified in this House at the birth, it produceth excellent Orators.

The Second House.

This House concerneth the Estate of the Native, or Querent; in suits of Law it shews a mans friends or assistants; and in Duels, the mans second.

It ruleth the Hips, Thighs and Fundament.
Of Colours, the Green and White.

The Consignificators are of Signs, Sagittary, of Planets, Jupiter. If the Lord of the Ascendant, or any of the Fortunes be in this House well dignified, it sheweth the Native or Querent to be Religious, and prosperous in merchandising, or any Sea Voyages, or long Journeys. If the Infortunes be therein, judge the contrary. The Sun and Jupiter both rejoyceth in this House. The House is masculine.

The Tenth House.

This House hath relation unto Kings, Nobles, Officers, or Commanders in chief, especially in Armies; it also concerns the chiefest man in power, in either City, or Town, or Common-wealth; also the Natives Trade or Profession.

In Man or Woman it ruleth the Knees and Hams.

Of Colours, Red and White. This House is feminine.

The Consignificators of this House, are the Sign Capricorn, and the Planet Mars. If the Lord of the Ascendant, Sun, or any Fortune be in this House, and well dignified, it argueth the Native shall have a continuance of Honour, high Esteem, and Wealth, Wealth, either by Office, or Command. But if the Infortunes be therein, judge the contrary.

Mars rejoyceth in this House.

The Eleventh House.

This House represents the Native, or Querents Friends, whether real or false; and unto Kings, Nobles, and chiefest men in power, either in City, or Common-wealth, it demonstrates their Favourites, Allies and Counsellors, or Associates, whether they be good or bad; it hath relation unto their Wealth or Poverty.

Of members, it governeth the Legs and Ankles.
Of Colours, the Saffron, or Yellow.

Her Angel is Gabriel. Num 2, 6, 9.
Colours

Colours belonging unto the Planets.

Saturn always gives black; Jupiter blew or red, mix'd with green; Mars red; Sun yellow; Venus white, or very light purple colour; Mercury a sky-colour; Moon a white mixture.

Colours belonging unto the Signs.

Aries gives white, somewhat mixed with red; Taurus white, mixed with Citrine; Gemini a white, mix'd with red; Cancer green, or russet; Leo red, or yellowish green, Virgo black speckled with blew; Libra black, or dark crimson, or tawny colour; Scorpio brown; Sagittary yellow, or green sanguine; Capricorn black or russet; or a swarthy brown; Aquarius a blewish sky-colour; Pisces green, &c.

Some Observations concerning the Twelve Signs.

Signs Northern being North from the Equinoctial, are Aries, Taurus, Gemini, Cancer, Leo, Virgo. Signs Southern, being South from the Equinoctial, are Libra, Scorpio, Sagittary, Capricorn, Aquarius, Pisces.

The Fix'd Signs are Taurus, Leo, Aquarius, Scorpio: When in a question of Sickneſs, the principal Significators Significators are in fix'd Signs, we conclude, that the Diſeaſe is fixed, and unapt to be removed; and in a Nativity it ſheweth the Native to be ſtedfaſt, and not eaſily moved.

The common Signs are Gemini, Virgo, Sagittary, Pisces: In a Nativity, when the Aſcendant, with its Lord are in common Signs, it ſheweth the Native to be unſtable, not perfectly fix'd, nor yet eaſily mov'd, wavering between both in his Actions, or Affairs. And in caſe of Sickneſs, when the principal Significators are herein, it ſheweth the Diſeaſe to be neither fixed, nor yet eaſily moved, no certainty in caſe of recovery between that which we call acute and chronick.

The movable Signs are Aries, Cancer, Libra, Capricorn: Theſe four movable Signs denote the Quarters of the Year: and ſo when the Sun enters Aries, then begins the Spring: when Cancer, Summer: when Libra, Autumn, or Harveſt: when Capricorn, Winter. In Nativities, when the Aſcendant and its Lord are in movable Signs, it ſheweth the Native to be unſtedfaſt and wavering in his Actions: and in queſtions of Sickneſs, when the principal Significators are herein, it ſheweth a ſpeedy deliverance either for life or death, the grief being acute.

Signs fruitful are Cancer, Scorpio, Pisces. If theſe Signs aſcend on the firſt or fifth Houſes, or if the principal Significators be therein, it ſheweth the Native to be fruitful, be it male or female.

Theſe Signs are called barren, viz. Gemini, Leo, Virgo: either of theſe Signs being on the Aſcendant or fifth Houſe, or the principal Significators therein, ſheweth the Native to be unfruitful.

Humane Signs are Gemini, Virgo, Libra, Aquarius:

are thus to be understood; two Planets are said to be in Antifion to each other, when they are in signs and degrees equally distant from the first point of Cancer and Capricorn; so Saturn in the first degree of Gemini, and Jupiter in the last degree of Cancer are equally distant, by twenty nine degrees from the first point, or punctum thereof; and therefore in Antifion to each other, which Aspect is equal to a Sextil, and how it may readily be found, observe as followeth;

Antisfions in Signs.

6 8 V X ~ W
 II O M E M F

By this you may see that a Planet in Cancer casts his Antifion to Gemini ; and a Planet in Leo to Taurus ; and so of the rest. So that entring with the Sign any Planet is in, and in the Sign opposite thereto is the Antifion of your Planet, which having found, substract the degrees and minutes of your Planet from thirty degrees, and the Remainder is the Antifion in degrees and minutes : note, that the Contrantifion is always the opposite point both in Signs, Degrees and Minutes to the Antifion, and equally significant with a Quartil Aspect, &c.

Concerning

Concerning the several ways by which all Questions and Matters are brought to an effectual Conclusion, &c.

First by application, that is, when any two Planets being Significators, apply by good Aspect to each other; and if it be from good and proper places of the Figure, you need never doubt of the success and performance of the matter in question.

Secondly, by Translation of Light and Nature, which is thus to be understood, if two Significators behold not each other by any convenient Aspect, yet if some other Planet separate himself from one of them, and next apply by Conjunction, or good Aspect to the other, the business shall then be effected and brought to pass, and that by the means of some person solicitous therein, signified by the Planet translating the light of the two Significators aforesaid.

Thirdly, By collection of Light, which is thus, the two Significators behold not each other, yet if they both behold some other Planet more weighty or ponderous than themselves, and that by good Aspect, the business in question shall then be accomplished, and that by the help and assistance of some person signified by the third Planet, who is said to collect the Light of the two Significators.

Fourthly, By reception and dwelling in House, that is, when the Significators are in no Aspect to each other, yet if they are in Reception by House

What use and Application may be made concerning the Twelve Signs before mentioned.

First, when any of these Signs ascends at the time of birth, it in a greater measure describes the shape and quality of the Native, as I have elsewhere expressed.

Secondly, in case of Thefts, Fugitives, and Strays amongst Cattle, if the Significator be in any of those Signs, it describeth the Place.

Thirdly, In case of Travel, it designeth the place most beneficial for health and delight by the Ascendant and its Lord; and for Profit and Commerce by the Second House his Lord, and Part of fortune and his Lord.

Fourthly, In case of Sicknes, if the principal Significator be in fix'd Signs (more especially in Chronick Grievs) it sheweth years before recovery; if the principal Significator be in common Signs, it denoteth Months; and if in movable Signs Weeks. But in acute Grievs fix'd Signs shew Months, common Signs Weeks, movable Signs Days. There are other Applications and Uses to be made, as I have elsewhere expressed.

The Orbs, Rays, or Influence of the Planets.

Saturn 10 deg. Jupiter 10 deg. Mars 7 deg. Sol 17 deg. Venus 8 deg. Mercury 7 deg. Luna 12 deg.

The Use is thus, if any Planet be within so many degrees of any Sign or Cusp of any House, or be within so many degrees of any Aspect, it's then called a Platick Conjunction or Aspect. But when two Planets draw near unto each other, then we account the moiety of their Orbs. Example, Saturn gives 10 deg. Venus 8 deg. which being put together makes 18 deg. whose half is 9, which sheweth, that if Saturn and Venus were within 9 deg. of any Aspect unto each other, it shall be called a Platick Aspect, and so of the rest.

Here follow some Terms of Art, and some necessary Rules fit to be known before we give Judgment upon any question.

Application.

That is; when two Planets are by motion drawing into some Aspect of each other; and always the Lower Planet is said to apply unto the higher, except the higher Planet be retrograde, and then he shall apply unto the lower Planet.

Separation.

That is, when two Planets depart from each other by any Aspect whatsoever; and then the lower Planet shall be said to separate from the higher, except the higher Planet be Retrograde, as aforesaid.

Prohibition.

Prohibition.

That is, when two Planets are applying unto each other by some Aspect which might happily have put an end to some business; and then another Planet interposeth his Body or Aspect, and so hindereth the matter before it's accomplished.

Refragation.

That is when a Planet turns retrograde before he comes unto any Aspect, being by motion applying unto some other.

Translation.

That is when a lower Planet doth separate from higher, and then presently doth joyn unto another, either by Body or Aspect, which in a question sheweth that one Friend shall procure the help and assistance of another Friend; and the Planets in question shall personate them accordingly.

Reception.

That is, when two Planets are in each others Dignities, be it by House, Exaltation, Triplicity, Term or Face; it sheweth concord and agreement between those people which the Planets describeth, and that any business or contest will be ended in love.

Oriental.

That is when any Planet doth rise before the Sun.

Occidental.

That is when any Planet doth rise after the Sun. The Moon is said to be Oriental of the Sun from the Full unto the Change; and from the Change unto the Full she is Occidental.

Beseiged.

That is when any Planet happens to be between two malevolent Planets: in questions it sheweth them to be much straitned, or in great distress who are signified thereby.

Direct.

A Planet is said to be direct when he moveth forward in the Sign where he is.

Retrograde.

That is when a Planet moveth backward in the Sign where he is.

Collection.

That is when two Planets are principal Significators in any question, and doth not behold each other, but doth cast their Aspects unto another Planet

net more weighty than themselves, and they both receive him in some of their essential Dignities: in questions, that person which the weighty Planet doth represent shall finish the business which the other two could not do of themselves.

Querent.

That is the party which cometh with desire to be resolved in any question.

Quesued.

That is he or she or the thing sought and inquired after.

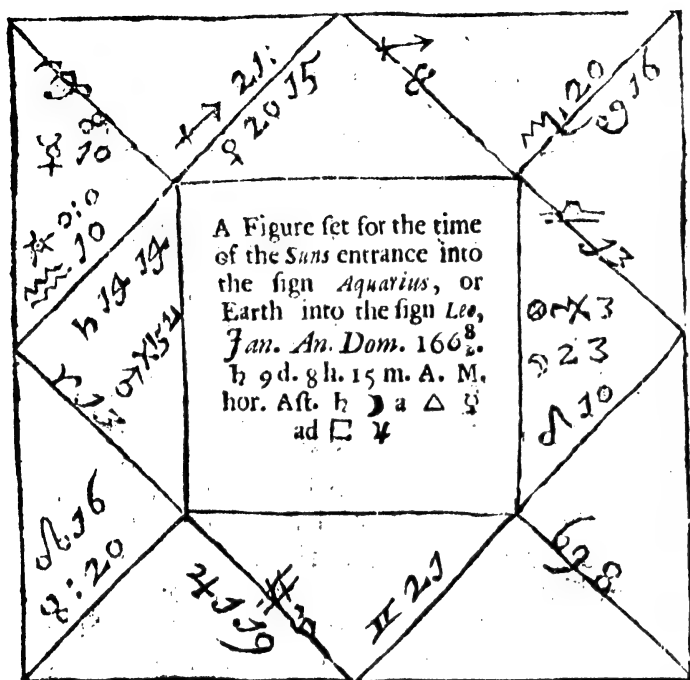

Dragons Head.

The Dragons Head is of the nature of the Fortunes, yet convertable; for being with good Planets it increaseth their good, but with evil Planets it increaseth their Evil, &c.

Dragons Tail.

The Dragons Tail is by nature inimical and contrary to the Head in quality, for it diminisheth the good or evil of the Planet with whom it is joyned, &c.

Brief Resolutions concerning Questions appertaining unto the first House.

Having already set forth the Nature and Signification of this House, I shall accordingly proceed. Here we find the tenth degree of Aquarius ascending, and the Sign Pisces intercepted: had the latter part of Aquarius ascended from the 25th degree, then the Native or Querent should have been described according unto the Sign Pisces. The Sign Aquarius doth signifie (as you may find in my Book of Physick, one of a thick, squat Corporeature, strong and well composed, &c. But in regard Saturn is in this Sign, the Native will be more swarthy, swarthy, with sad or black hair. The Marks or Moles are described as followeth. First, Saturn being in the Ascendant, and in his own House, sheweth the Native or Querent to have some Mole or sad Mark in their Face, but more especially in the right Leg. Also the Sign Cancer being on the Cusp of the sixth House, sheweth a light Mole, or Mark on the breast: the Moon in the sign Leo sheweth a light Mole or Mark on the Back.

Some General Observations concerning the first House.

If the Lord of the Ascendant be strong, and more strong than the Lords of the 4, 6, 7, 8, or 12 Houses, altho afflicted by them, yet the Native or Querent shall withstand the Power of them, for when Planets afflict and are weak, especially if more weak than the Planets afflicted, it's compared unto a weak Enemy, who is not able to do the mischief he would. But when the afflicting Planets are powerful and strong, and the Lord of the Ascendant weak, then the Native or Querent must expect damage, or mischief according unto the Nature of the Planets and Houses whereof they are Lord or Lords. And as Planets fortunate do shew which way and place is best for the Natives health and thriving; so Planets unfortunate shew the contrary.

Some Observations concerning the Natives Affairs.

As the Sign ascending doth represent the person of the Native or Querent, so the Lord thereof shall be chiefly concerned in the Native or Querents actions, or actions, as having to do with others; wherefore wherefore it will be very expedient for the Native or Querent to know his Friends from his Foes. And what Planet, or Planets are Significators of them; first I find Venus on the Cusp of the eleventh House, and Jupiter Lord of the eleventh, the one in Sextile; the other in Trine unto the Ascendant, which argueth that such men and women who are signified by Jupiter or Venus shall constantly prove friendly unto the native or querent: and on the contrary, those persons who are by Shape, Trade, or Profession under the Dominion of the Sun, Moon, or Mercury, shall be at all times inimical to the native or querent: The use to be made hereof followeth. Whensoever the native or querent shall desire to have dealings or commerce with such persons described, as aforesaid, to be friendly, they will at all times prove real, and the native or querent may confide in them. But it will be convenient that their Significators be for the time being in some friendly Aspect, or in reception with each other. And on the contrary, such who are described to be inimical, the native or querent must take heed how he doth trust, deal with, or rely upon them. But if necessity compel, so that the Native must have dealings with them. Then let the Lord of the Ascendant and their Significator be in friendly aspect unto each other for the time being.

One general Rule concerning the Lord of the Ascendant; and likewise of the Ascendant.

So often as any of the other six Planets doth bear any notable Aspect unto the Lord of the Ascendant, according unto the nature of the Aspect,
the

the native or querent may expect unity or discord from such persons who are described to be under their Dominion; during their influences sometimes evil Aspects either unto the Ascendant, or its Lord may produce sickness: If the Planets squaring, or opposing be Lords of the 6, 8, or 12 Houses; it's likewise observable, that oft-times when the native or querent shall be in company with such persons, who are by their shape, trade, or profession (for the time being) described to be in Quartile, or Opposition Aspect unto the Lord of the Ascendant without reception, that wrangling and discord have ensued thereupon, and sometimes Duels, and the native shall likewise be as inclining unto wrath as his opponents. And those whose Significators are strongest in essential dignities shall prevail. Note that altho those Planets who are squaring or opposing doth not exactly personate each person by shape; yet if their trade, office, or profession are signified thereby, it shall be as effectual as if they had agreed in bodily shape; for it's observable, that in what Planets Terms any ones Significators are in, they shall be much addicted unto the nature and inclination of that Planet, be it by Office, Trade, Profession or Quality, and likewise unto the Almuten of the Figure. Example, If they are in the Terms of Jupiter, they shall be inclined unto Learning, or otherwise to be a Clothier, or Woollen Draper. If unto the Terms of Mars, then to be a Soldier; or of such Trades or Professions which are under the Dominion of Mars; and so of the rest: for we must not expect that all those who are under the Dominion of Mars can be of one shape; and so of the rest. And farther upon Nativities and Horary Questions I have

Whether any thing suddenly happening doth foreshew good or evil to the Native by the Figure foregoing.

Suppose the Figure before-mentioned were erected upon the like occasion, the Figure being radical, and the Ascendant with its Lord personating the native or querent : now finding that Saturn is Lord of the Sign where the Sun is, and Lord of the Ascendant, and doth dispose of the Moon, who hath no Dignities in the Ascendant. Secondly, finding that Saturn is in Sextile unto Venus, a Fortune, I do conclude that this sudden thing, rumor or report will no way mischief the native or querent, or be prejudicial unto him ; also Jupiter Lord of Pisces, a Sign intercepted in the Ascendant, being in Trine to the Sun doth farther confirm the same as aforesaid.

The general way to give judgment herein is as followeth.

A Figure being erected for the time when the news or sudden thing doth happen. Then we must consider whether the Lord of the House where the Sun is, or the Lord of the House where the Moon is, or the Lord of the Ascendant hath most Dignities in the Ascendant, then if he be well aspected of the Fortunes, Sun, Jupiter, or Venus, then we may conclude, that no ill will happen unto the native, or querent, concerning this accident or news. But on the contrary, if the Planet aforesaid shall be evilly aspected of the Infortunes, then judge the contrary, according unto his position and nature that is the afflicting Planet. If he be Lord of the second, it sheweth damage unto his Estate ; if Lord of the third, third, some mischief or damage by his Kindred or Neighbours ; if Lord of the fourth from his Father, or about Lands or Husbandry, or his dwelling place, and so of the rest.

To know whether any one be at home, that the Native or Querent desires to speak withal by the Figure foregoing.

The Ascendant with its Lord doth personate the native or querent, if he should desire to speak with his Brother, Sister or Neighbour, Venus, Lady of the third, being in an Angle in Sextile to Saturn Lord of the Ascendant, argueth that the Brother, Sister or Neighbour is at home. By this Rule you may go through all the other Houses considerable, ever remembring to observe whether that Planet which is Lord of the third doth accord either in bodily shape or profession, otherwise its best to observe what Planet doth correspond with either their person or profession, and so give judgment according unto the Rules before-going.

One general Rule concerning the question aforesaid.

If there be any amicable Aspect between the Lord of the Ascendant, and the Planet whom you intend to visit (I mean their Significator) then you may assuredly speed during their Influences, or if the Moon, or any other inferior, or retrograde Planet do separate from their Significator, and apply unto the Lord of the Ascendant, then that party represented by the Moon, or Planet that translateth the influence of the other Planet, shall accidentally be an assistant unto the native or querent. Note that Angles sheweth the party to be at home, succedant not far off, cadent far from home.

Concerning

of the second and ninth, is in Trine to the Cusp of the ninth, and in Sextile to Mercury, Lord of the seventh; also Saturn, Lord of the Ascendant, doth dispose of the Sun and Mercury, both Lords of the seventh, significators of the common Enemy; also Saturn is in Sextile to Venus, a Fortune in an Angle, and in Trine to the Cusp of the fourth, all which are arguments that the native or querent shall travel unto the end of his Voyage, or long Journey with safety.

A general way to give judgment herein.

If the Fortunes be in Angles, and not impeded, the Lord of the Ascendant strong, the Moon and the ninth House no way afflicted, then the querent may expect safety in any long Journey or Voyage at Sea: or if it were concerning a Ship lanch'd, or to be set forth at a time prefix'd, then the querent may conclude, that the Ship shall go safe to its harbour. But if you find the Ascendant, or Lord of the Ascendant, the Moon or ninth House afflicted by the Infortunes, or if the Infortunes be in Angles, judge the contrary. To know in what kinds the Ship, Passengers, and those in it are like to suffer, when dangers are threatned by any Figure. First we must take notice, that if the Ascendant, or the Moon be afflicted, it sheweth danger to the Ship; if we would know what part of the Ship is in danger; then we must observe under what sign each part of the Ship is governed. As first, the Breast, or upper part is under Aries, the lower part of the Breast under Taurus; the Rother or Stern under Gemini; the Bottom or Floor of the Ship under Cancer; the top above water under Leo; the Belly under Virgo: that part between wind and water under Libra; the Seamens Lodgings under Scorpio; the the Mariners under Sagittary; the Ends of the Ship under Capricorn; the Captain of the Ship under Aquarius; the Oars under Pisces. Example, if the Moon be afflicted by the Infortunes in the Sign Aries, it sheweth damage to the upper part of the Breast; if in Taurus, the lower part of the Breast; if in Gemini, the Rother or Stern, and so of the rest. Generally if Mars afflict the principal Significators, as the Lord of the Ascendant, the Moon, ninth House, or its Lord, then it sheweth dangers by Robbers and Pyrates; if Saturn or Dragons Tail, then it sheweth dangers by Storms and Shipwrack. Also we must consider the Houses wherein they are afflicted; if in the first House, it sheweth danger to the fore part of the Ship: if in the seventh House, the hinder part; if in the fourth, the bottom: if in the tenth the Mast or upper Tackling. Note, that if the Lord of the Ascendant be afflicted, it sheweth danger to the Men in the Ship, and then Mars threatneth wounds or hurts by war, or fire; Saturn by Shipwrack. But if the Ascendant, it's Lord, and the Moon be afflicted by the Infortunes out of the fourth, eighth, or twelfth Houses, or be Lord, or Lords of those Houses, it sheweth destruction both unto Ship and Men. There are many other Constructions to be made, but each judicious Artist must mix reason with art. As if the Moon or the Lord of the Ascendant be afflicted by the Infortunes out of the sixth House, or if the Infortune be Lord of the sixth House, or if the Moon or Lord of the Ascendant be in the sixth House, it sheweth danger by sickness.

hopeful thriving by Trade, or Profession, yet he shall be subject unto rash Actions, and given to spend and waste his Stock, or Patrimony by ill courses; and the rather, as being disposed by Saturn Lord of the fourth and fifth Houses.

A general Judgment concerning the second House.

And first concerning Signs or Tokens of Wealth and thriving.

1. As the first House concerns the Native or Querents person, so the second House concerns his Estate. Now if there be any Fortune in the second House, as Jupiter, Sun, Venus, or Dragons Head, then it sheweth that the native or querent shall have, or acquire a competent Estate.

2. If any Fortune doth cast his Friendly Rays or Influences unto the Cusp of the second House, it argueth increase of wealth.

3. If the Lord of the first and second be joyned together in Angles, or good Houses, it sheweth increase of wealth by industry.

4. If the Lord of the second be in the first, or the Lord of the first in the second, it sheweth gain by industry, if not afflicted.

5. If any Planet doth translate the Influence of the Lord of the first to the Lord of the second; or from the Lord of the second to the Lord of the first, it sheweth wealth.

6. If any benevolent Planet be in Conjunction, or cast their friendly Aspect unto the Part of Fortune, it promiseth wealth.

7. If Part of Fortune be in Conjunction with any fix'd Star, of the nature of the Fortunes, it promiseth wealth.

8. If

8. If any Star of the nature of the Fortunes be in the second House, it promiseth wealth.

If Lord \oplus be in the second, and well dignified, or be in Trine or Sextile to the Cusp of the second House, or to the Lord thereof, it promiseth wealth.

10. If all or most of the Planets be swift in motion, it promiseth wealth.

Signs or Tokens shewing Poverty.

If the 2d. House (or the Sign on the Cusp thereof) or its Lord, or Part of Fortune, or his Lord be afflicted by the Infortunes, or if any Star of the nature of the Infortunes be in the second, or in Conjunction with the Lord of the second, or with Part of Fortune, or his Lord, or if the Lord of the second, or if Part of Fortune and his Lord be weak, and ill dignified, and in bad Houses, it sheweth poverty. Generally, whatever the good Planets by their friendly Aspects did shew concerning wealth; On the contrary, the evil Planets by their evil Aspects do shew poverty.

By what means the Native or Querent may obtain wealth.

A general Rule.

If the Lord of the Ascendant be in the second House; or if the Lord of the second be in the Ascendant; or if there be a Trine or Sextile Aspect between the Lord of the Ascendant and second, it sheweth that the native or Querent shall thrive by his own industry. But if any Planet or Planets being being Lord or Lords of any of the other ten Houses (next unto the second) or doth bear any friendly Aspect unto the second House, or the Lord thereof, or unto Part of Fortune or his Lord, or if disposer of Part of Fortune bear any friendly Aspect unto the second House, or the Lord thereof, or if the Moon or any inferior Planet doth translate the influence of any the before-mentioned Lords of any of the ten Houses by any friendly Aspect unto the second House, the Lord thereof, or unto Part of Fortune, or his Lord. Then we may judge that the gain or increase of wealth will come from such persons who are signified by their Houses whereof they are Lords. Example, if from the third House by means of a Brother, Sister, Kinsman, or Neighbour: if from the fourth House, his Father. If the querent be a Farmer by renting of Lands, if a Gentleman by buying and selling of Lands: if from the fifth House, by play, or being a player; or if a Courtier, by Embassages; if the native or querent be of mean rank then by keeping an Inn, Tavern, or Ale-house; if from the sixth House, by having good servants, or by dealing in small Cattle; if from the seventh House, by means of a Wife; if from the eighth House, by a Legacy; if from the ninth House, by some Voyage at Sea, or from his Wifes Kindred, or some Minister; if from the tenth House, from the King, or Nobleman; or by some Office, or Profession; if from the eleventh house, by some Friend, or from some service done for the King or Nobleman; if from the twelfth House, by dealing in great Cattle, especially if the Sign be bestial; but if the Sign be humane, then by being a keeper of a prison, or by being a Bailiff or Sergeant to arrest men, and the like.

The

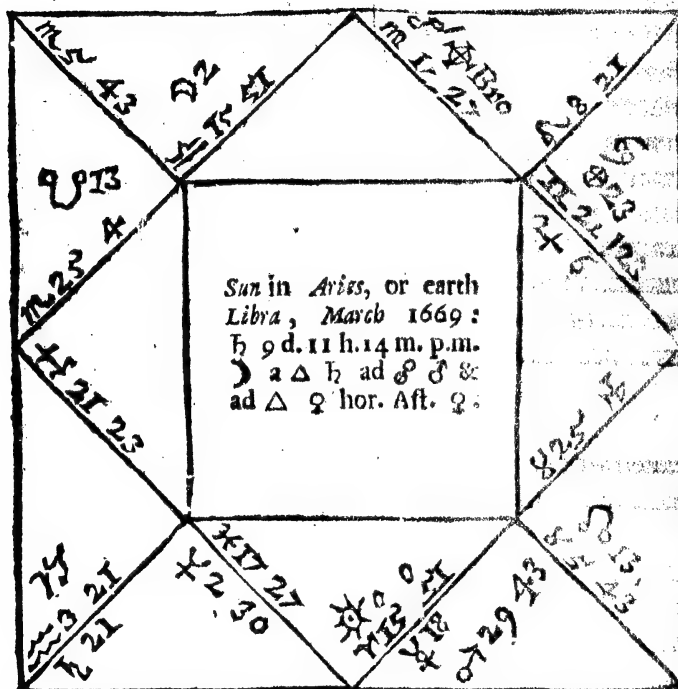

The time when the Native or Querent may expect to thrive.

A general Rule.

We must observe whether the Significators which promise wealth be in Trine or Sextile, or Conjunction Aspect, and how much they want of a true Partil Aspect: if the Significators be in fix'd Signs, allow so many years as there are degrees wanting; if in common Signs, so many months; if in movable Signs, so many weeks. Also we must have regard unto the Houses where those Planets are which promise wealth, and whether they be quick or slow in motion; if in Angles, the sooner; if in succedent Houses, the longer; if in cadent, the longest of all. But as in this question, so in all other the Artist must mix reason with art.

Judgments concerning the third House.

This Figure is by Astrologers called The Revolutionary Figure of the World. And in regard the Sign ascending is fix'd, it may well serve to give judgment thereby for the rest of the year ensuing. But in the first place I shall proceed according unto the method before-going.

As

second, then he wants money; if by the Lord of the sixth, then it sheweth sickness; if an Infortune be Lord of the eighth, or fourth, no fortune interposing his friendly Rays, it sheweth death; if afflicted by the Lord of the twelfth, then cometh imprisonment, or that he is bewitched, if he be in a Country where many Witches are; and so of the rest.

brother from Reports, News, Letters, Messengers, or Intelligence, whether it signifie good, or evil.

honor
A Radical Figure being erected for the nearest time, when first the report, &c. is brought to the Querent, then we must observe whether the Moon be in the first, third, tenth, or eleventh Houses, and doth separate by any friendly Aspect from any planet; and then apply upon such like friendly Aspects unto the Lord of the Ascendant, third, tenth, or eleventh Houses, or unto the Lord of the Part of Fortune, or his disposer; then we may conclude, that the report, news, &c. is for the good of the Querent. But if the Moon be in those Houses which are opposite unto the Houses aforesaid, and doth separate and apply by bad Aspects, judge the contrary.

judgment, by the Figure before-going upon the like occasion.

In the Figure before-going I find the Moon in the eleventh, separating by Trine from Saturn, Lord of the third, and from thence applying unto the opposition of Mars, Lord of the Ascendant: whence we may collect, in regard that Mars is Lord of the eighth House, which hath signification of thers \oplus , is in Sextile to Saturn, Lord of the third, had the absent Brothers Part of Fortune been strong, it would have shewed the greater gain: the Quartile of Venus (being posited in the Ascendant) unto Jupiter, Lord of the absent Brothers second, sheweth waste of his Estate by Women: the Moon applying first from the Trine of Saturn, Lord of the third, unto the Opposition of Mars, Lord of the absent Brothers third House, sheweth some discord or discontent between him and some Neighbours where he liveth. But then the Moon applying from Mars unto the Trine of Venus, Lady of the absent Brothers ninth House, sheweth his sudden departure from the place where he is more remote North Westward. Also the Moon in his ninth doth hasten and confirm the same judgment.

When the Native or Querent may expect to hear News, or enjoy the Presents of the absent Brother, &c.

Concerning the time when either News or his Presents is to be expected, I find that upon the twelfth day of April next ensuing, Mars Lord of the Ascendant, and Saturn, Lord of the third, will be in Partil Square unto each other, and near reception by Terms, which argueth about that time he may have news of his absent Brother, but not his Presents until the twenty eighth of May, at which time Saturn and Mars will be in Partil Trine unto each other: had the Lord of the third been evilly aspected of the Infortunes, then according unto the nature of the Planet, and House whereof he is Lord, judgment must be given. As for Example, if he be afflicted by the Lord of the second, second, then he wants money; if by the Lord of the sixth, then it sheweth sickness; if an Infortune afflict, and be Lord of the eighth, or fourth, no Fortune interposing his friendly Rays, it sheweth death; if afflicted by the Lord of the twelfth, then it sheweth imprisonment, or that he is bewitched, if it be in a Country where many Witches are; and so of the rest.

Concerning Reports, News, Letters, Messengers, or Intelligence, whether it signifie good, or evil.

A Radical Figure being erected for the nearest time, when first the report, &c. is brought to the querent, then we must observe whether the Moon be in the first, third, tenth, or eleventh Houses, and doth separate by any friendly Aspect from any Planet; and then apply upon such like friendly Aspect unto the Lord of the Ascendant, third, tenth, or eleventh Houses, or unto the Lord of the Part of Fortune, or his disposer; then we may conclude, that the report, news, &c. is for the good of the querent. But if the Moon be in those Houses which are opposite unto the Houses aforesaid, and doth separate and apply by bad Aspects, judge the contrary.

Judgment by the Figure before-going upon the like occasion.

In the Figure before-going I find the Moon in the eleventh, separating by Trine from Saturn, Lord of the third, and from thence applying unto the Opposition of Mars, Lord of the Ascendant: from whence we may collect, in regard that γ is Lady of the eighth House, which hath signification of of Legacies, Wills, Joyntures of the Wife, &c. That there will arise some contentious or variances between the native or querent, and his Brothers Kindred or Neighbours, touching such matters or things as aforesaid. But in regard the Moon doth separate from the Opposition of Mars, and from thence apply unto the Trine of Venus, Lady of the seventh, who doth dispose of the Moon, and is in the Face of Saturn, and in Sextile to Mars, argueth, that by the mediation of the natives Wife, or Woman signified by Venus, the difference or contention may happily be reconciled.

Concerning short Journeys, how speed.

A general Rule.

We account that a short Journey which one may go and come home in a day.

1. If the Lord of the Ascendant be in any of the Dignities of the Lord of the third, or be in the third, and not afflicted, or if the Lord of the third be in the Ascendant, it argueth safe travel.

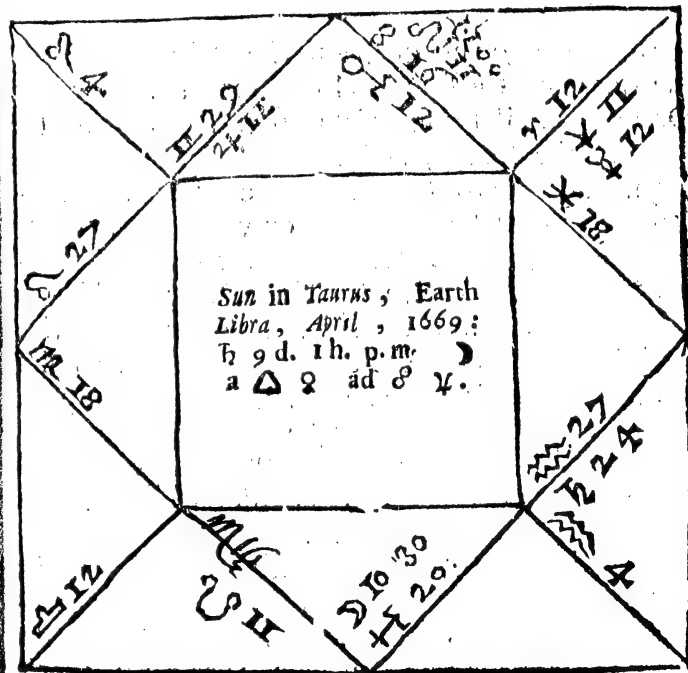

2. If there be reception between the Lord of the Ascendant, and Lord of the third, or any friendly Aspect between them, or if the Moon separate, and apply by any friendly Aspect from the one to the other, it sheweth safety in travel.

3. If there be any of the Fortunes, or Dragons Head in the third, it argueth safe travel.

But on the contrary, if there be any Infortune or Dragons Tail in the third, or that any of the Infortunes do cast their Quartile or Opposition Aspect unto the Lord of the third, or unto the Cusp of the third; or if the Lord of the third be com-bust,

bust, or joyned unto the Infortunes: or if the Lord of the Ascendant be in Quartile, or Opposition unto the Lord of the third, or if the Lord of the third be in Quartile or Opposition unto the Lord of the Ascendant, or Cusp of the Ascendant, or third House, it sheweth bad to travel. But if Planets by their Aspects be never so squaring, or opposing, yet if the Lord of the Ascendant and third Houses be strong, and doth dispose of those inimical Planets, as being in their Houses, then the native or querent may go his short journey with good success.

Judgments concerning the Fourth House.

This House generally concerns the native or querents dwelling; also his Father; and Cities, Towns, Villages, or Castles; also Mannors, Lands and Tenements, Treasure trove, or any thing hid in the ground; also in yearly Revolutions it sheweth plenty, or scarcity of grain and fruits; also the end and termination of any matter or thing in question, &c.

A Father being absent, or travelled far off, how it fareth with him and his Household.

In answer to this question the Ascendant is for the querent, the fourth House for his Father, the Dragons Tail being within four degrees of the Cusp of the fourth, and Mars Lord thereof, being in Quartile to Saturn, Lord of the sixth, sheweth danger of sickness, not only unto his person, but also unto his Household, for Saturn is Lord of his fourth, it sheweth some tumor or swelling in the Throat, also the Moon in Aries in Opposition to Jupiter, Lord of the eighth, in Gemini, an airy sign, argueth a strong Fever, with blood corrupted, and a Pleurisie, Mars being weak, together with the Moon, and the afflicting Planets, Saturn and Jupiter being strong, and the Moon in the fourth House, argueth no recovery.

Generally in this question, if the Ascendant, its Lord and the Moon be not afflicted, I mean the Ascendant of the fourth House, which signifieth the Father; then we may conclude, that the Father is well; and if afflicted by the Infortunes, or Lord of the eighth or fourth from the Fathers Ascendant, yet if the afflicting Planets be weaker than the Lord of the fourth, it sheweth recovery.

Whether the Father live or die, shall the native enjoy his Fathers Estate, being his eldest Son.

By the Figure before going I find Jupiter, Lord of the fifth, being the Fathers House of Substance in Sextile to Mercury, Lord of the querents second, one argument that the native shall enjoy a competent part of his Fathers means, but not all, for Jupiter is in Sextile to Venus, Lady of the third, which argueth that the natives Brethren and Sisters shall have a considerable part.

Generally in this question, if the Lord of the fifth be in the querents second, or if the Lord of the second be in the fifth, or if the Lord of the fifth be in Trine or Sextile to the Lord of the second; or if any inferior Planet doth translate the influence of the one to the other; or if the Fathers Part of Fortune be in the second, or be disposed by the Lord of the second, or be in any friendly Aspect to the Lord of the second, then the querent shall enjoy all, or a competent portion from his Father. But on the contrary, if the principal Significators doth evilly aspect each other without reception: and if the Lord of the fifth doth cast his friendly Aspect unto other Planets, or is in reception with them, then judge the contrary; and according unto the nature of the Houses and their Lords, which the Lord of the fifth doth cast his friendly Aspect unto, judge the estate will go that way.

Whether it be best to abide, or remove ones Habitation.

Generally, if any Fortune, Dragons Head, or Part of Fortune be strong in the fourth, or if the Lord of the fourth be strong, and cast his friendly Aspect unto the querents ☉ or his Lord, or to the querents House of Substance or his Lord; or if the Lord of the Ascendant be strong in the fourth, or the Lord of the fourth strong in the Ascendant; or if there be any strong reception or translation by any inferior retrograde Planet by any good Aspect betwixt the Lord of the Ascendant, and the fourth, then its best to abide. But if the principal Significators be evilly aspected, weak and unfortunate, or if evil Planets, or Dragons Tail be in the fourth, then its best to remove.

Concerning treasure hid, or mislaid by the querent, or by any of his Kindred or Neighbours.

If the querent hid, or mislaid his own Treasure, then the second House, and the Lord thereof shall be chiefly concerned. But if it concerns his Kinsman, or Neighbour, then their second and its Lord must be regarded: and so of any other Relation whatsoever. If the Lord of the second be in the Ascendant, or in the Sign where the Lord of the Ascendant is, or in one of the Houses of the Lord of the Ascendant, then the thing sought after is in that part of the House which the querent most frequenterh, or where he usually layeth up his Commodities, or such things which he most delights in. But if the Lord of the second be in the fourth, its where the querents Father, or some of the ancient of the House lodgeth. If in the seventh, it's where his Wife or Maid servants useth; if in the tenth, in his Shop, or place of trade, if it be a Gentleman, then his his Hall, or Dining Room; if a Husbandman, then in the first Room after the entrance into his House; also we must heed where the Part of Fortune is, and whether the Signs be airy, fiery, earthy, or watery (where the Lord of the second, or Part of Fortune is) airy Signs are upwards, in the Eaves or Tyles of the House; fiery, near the Chimney; watery, near a Pump, or Cistern; earthy, in a low place; if in an earthy Sign, and in the fourth, its hid in the earth, we must likewise observe what point of the Compass the Sign is; if in Aries, then on the East part; if in Taurus, then South and by East, and so of the rest. Also the fourth House, and its Lord must be joyned in judgment herein, and so take plurality of Testimonies. But the second House and its Lord are of greatest concernment herein.

Concerning Treasure hid without knowledge, unto whom it doth belong, and whether there be any in the place.

In this question, if either the Sun, Moon, Jupiter, Venus, or Dragons Head be in the fourth, then we may conclude that there is Treasure more or less, according unto the strength and weakness of the fortune. If the place be very lightly for Treasure; then if the Fortunes be in Angles, and cast their Trine or Sextile Aspect unto the Cusp of the fourth, or unto his Lord, then its probable that there is treasure. But if the Infortunes be therein, or cast their Quartile or Opposition Aspect unto the Cusp or Lord thereof, judge the contrary. If Saturn or Mars be strong in the fourth, then we may expect such mettals or things which they concern; if Saturn be therein, then we may expect an Urn, or some ancient Monument of some dead body:

dy; if it concerns Mines, then we may expect Stone, Coals, or Lead, &c. if Mars be strong therein, then we may expect some Engines of Iron, Brass, or Iron-mine; but if Mars be weak therein, then expect old rusty Iron, or things of no value. But if the Sun be in the fourth, and strong, expect Gold; if the Moon, Silver, if Venus, costly Jewels, or rich Household-stuff; if Mercury, Books, Pictures, or Medals, or writings; if Jupiter be therein, and strong, bearing a Trine, or Sextile Aspect to the Sun, it argueth, that there is Gold; if unto the Moon, Silver; if unto Mercury, Jewels, or other rich, and costly things, &c.

If the querent shall obtain the Treasure.

If that Planet who is Significator of the Treasure doth apply unto the Lord of the Ascendant; or if there be any friendly Aspect, mutual Reception, or Translation betwixt them, or Collection by a third Planet; then it's probable, that the querent shall obtain the Treasure.

When you dig let the Fortunes be angular, and if possible, let the Significator of the Treasure apply unto the Lord of the Ascendant, or second, and the Lord of the hour fortunate.

Observations concerning the erecting a Figure upon this Account.

There are two ways observable to be used, whereby to erect a Figure, that so one may give true judgment thereby. The one is to take notice of the exact time when any Fire-drake, walking Sprit, or noise is seen and heard; or otherwise to take notice of the time when the querent did go upon the place, causing him to bring some part of the earth, and likewise to make a Circle round the place with a Hazel Plant; if gathered at the hour of Sun, the better. That so we may be informed within what compass for to erect our Figure, especially when it is in Commons, or vast places; having taken the time, mark what sign ascends; and if you can make the Figure radical, or any part of that sign ascending, you may, according unto the Rules before-going, give judgment: but if the Figure be not radical, defer your judgment until some other time and opportunity is offered, causing the querent to go again upon the place, or to observe some other time, that so the Figure may be radical, without which, no true judgment can be given, as I have oft experienced.

If it be good for the querent to take the House and Land in question, and whether he shall bargain, or not.

A general Rule.

In this question the Ascendant and its Lord are for the querent; the seventh House and his Lord for the Landlord: but if it be a Neighbour or Kinsman, then the third House must be for the Landlord: and so of the rest: the tenth House and its Lord shall signify the profit; the fourth House and its Lord the conclusion. If the Lord of the seventh, or the Lord of that House which is Significator of the Landlord be in the Ascendant, or in Trine or Sextile Aspect to the Lord of the Ascendant, or to the Ascendant, or if there be mutual reception or

or ambassadors, Women with Child, the Wealth of the Father, Inns, Plays, Banquets, Taverns, &c.

Whether the Native, or Querent may have Children by the Figure.

Humane Signs on the Cusp of the first and fifth Houses, Saturn strong, Lord of the fifth, in Trine unto Jupiter, one argument of Children. Secondly, the Moon and Jupiter are both in Trine to the Part of Fortune. Thirdly, the Moon is in Trine unto Jupiter and the Sun. Fourthly, Saturn, Lord of the fifth, is within three degrees of the Cusp, all which are arguments of Children. There is but one testimony against it, which is the Quartile of Saturn and Venus; but in regard Venus is a Fortune, and strong in his House, it will not hinder conception; however, pluralities of Testimonies must prevail. Generally, Signs fruitful on the Cusps of the first and fifth Houses, a Fortune in the fifth, the Lord of the fifth strong: in Trine to Jupiter, or unto Part of Fortune; the Moon in Trine to Jupiter, Venus, or Part of Fortune; the Lord of the fifth strong in the Ascendant, or the Lord of the Ascendant strong in the fifth, or if Part of Fortune be strong in the fifth, all these are arguments of Children. But if the Signs on the Cusps of the first and fifth Houses be barren Signs, or if the fifth House be afflicted by the malevolent Planets, or if the Lord of the fifth, or Part of Fortune be afflicted by the Infortunes, or if the principal Significators be in bad Houses, and evilly aspected, or under combustion, it argueth no Children.

Whether

Whether the Querents Wife be with Child, or not; and how to take the part of Children, a horary Question.

In this question we must be careful so to erect our Figure, that the Ascendant, together with its Lord, or Planet posited in the Ascendant, may personate the querent, the Figure being radical. The seventh House shall be for the querents Wife, and the fifth House from that shall be her House of Children: the Part of Fortune in this question must be taken from Mars unto Jupiter, and projected from his Ascendant. Now if the Lord of her fifth be in her Ascendant, or the Lord of her Ascendant be in her fifth, it argueth she is with child. Secondly, if Jupiter, Venus, Sun, Luna, Mercury, Part of Fortune, or Dragons Head be in her fifth, strong, and not afflicted, it sheweth her to be with child; or if the Lord of her fifth behold any of the Fortunes in an Angle, or if the Lord of her fifth, Jupiter, Venus, Sun, or Moon behold her Part of Fortune, it argueth conception: but if the Infortunes be in Angles, or that the principal Significators be by them afflicted, or if her Ascendant, fifth House, their Lords, the Moon, or Part of Fortune be afflicted by the Infortunes, judge the contrary.

Generally, those Rules which sheweth Children, if crossed by the Infortunes and contrary Aspects, argueth no Children.

Whether

Whether a Woman be with Child, or not, her self being querent.

To resolve this question, the Figure must be radical, and the Ascendant, its Lord, or Planet posited in the Ascendant, must personate the querent. But the Ascendant, its Lord, the Moon and Part of Fortune, together with the fifth House, and its Lord will be chiefly concerned. Now if the Lord of the Ascendant be in the fifth, or the Lord of the fifth be in the Ascendant, and not impeded; or if there be any friendly Aspect, Reception or Translation betwixt them, it argueth Conception; if Part of fortune be in the fifth, or if the Lord of the fifth, or Cusp of the fifth House be in friendly Aspect unto the Part of Fortune, it argueth Conception: if the Lady of the Ascendant be in fruitful Signs aspected by the Fortunes, it argueth Conception: any of the Fortunes in Angles beholding the Cusp of the fifth House, the Lord thereof, or Part of Fortune, with any friendly Aspect, it argueth Conception; any of the Fortunes in the fifth aspecting the Moon, Part of Fortune, or Lord of the first or fifth argueth Conception. But on the contrary, if you find the Infortunes in Angles, or in the fifth House, or doth cast their Quartile or Opposition Aspect unto the Cusp of the fifth, its Lord, or Part of Fortune: or if the Lord of the fifth, or Part of Fortune be combust, it argueth no Conception. Generally, those Rules which shew Children, if crossed by the Infortunes and contrary Aspects, argueth no Children. In this question, as in many others, when the Resolve is doubtful, doubtful, we must adhere unto the plurality of Testimonies.

A Woman being with Child to know whether the Child be Male or Female.

First, if the Signs on the Cusps of the first and fifth Houses be masculine, or if their degrees be masculine, or if the Part of Fortune be in a Sign masculine, or his disposer, if the Lords of those Signs be masculine, and in degrees masculine; if the Moon be in a Sign masculine, or in degrees masculine; if he apply unto a masculine Planet; if any Planet be in the fifth House masculine, and in degrees masculine, all which Rules before-going are arguments of a Male-child.

What I have said before concerning a Male-child, by the same Rules one may know a Female-child: and plurality of testimonies must stand.

How long a woman hath been conceived, she being querent.

If the Moon, the Lord of the Ascendant, or Lord of the fifth, or Lord of Part of fortune, or Lord of the hour (the Figure being radical) be separating from any Planet, more especially from the Significator of the Child, which of those Planets are nearest from separation, must be taken notice of, and how he doth separate; if by Conjunction she hath been conceived one month; if by Sextile she is in the second, or sixth month of her Conception, if the separation be by Quartile, then she she hath been conceived four Months; if the separation be by Trine, then she is in the fifth or third Month of her Conception; if by Opposition, then she hath been conceived seven Months. Note that the sign of the fifth, the Lord thereof, or Planets posited in the fifth, shall be Significator of the Child; if two Planets be in the fifth, and the Sign of the fifth a double bodied Sign, and fruitful, and not impeded, then the querent may expect two Children. Note that if the question be put after being quick, then the Quartile shews 4, the Trine 3, the Sextile 2, and the Conjunction one before deliverance.

A woman being with child, how speed at her lying in, and likewise after the Birth of her Child.

If the Ascendant be no way afflicted, nor yet the Lord thereof; and either the Moon, or Lord of the Ascendant be in any good Aspect of the Fortunes, or separating and applying unto any Fortune, or if there be reception, or translation between the Lord of the Ascendant, and any Fortune, it argueth safe deliverance in travel. Generally, if the Lord of the Ascendant be strong, and more strong than any afflicting Planet, altho she endure hard labour, or sickness at her lying in, yet she shall recover.

But if the Lord of the Ascendant, or Moon be separating, and applying unto the Infortunes by Quartile or Opposition Aspects, or unto the Lords of the eighth or fourth Houses, the Lord of the Ascendant being weak, and the afflicting Planets strong, it sheweth danger of death. Generally, those Rules which sheweth safe deliverance: if they are are crossed by the Infortunes and contrary Aspects, argueth contrary effects.

Whether the Child shall live or die.

If the fifth House be no way afflicted, and the Lord thereof, or Significator of the Child be well aspected of the Fortunes, and strong, it argueth life. Generally, if the Lord of the fifth be strong, and more strong than any afflicting Planet (if any be) yet the Child will live. But on the contrary, if the Lord of the Fifth be in the eighth or fourth, and weak; or if the Lord of the eighth be in the fifth; or if the Lord of the fifth be evilly aspected of the Lord of the eighth or fourth, and the afflicting Planets be more strong than the Lord of the fifth; or if the Lord of the fifth be combust, or if the Child be born at the New or Full Moon, it sheweth death, or that the Child shall not live long.

Concerning Embassadors, or Messengers.

A General Rule.

The Figure being Radical, set according unto the time of landing, or first News of the Ambassador or Messenger. In this question the Ascendant with its Lord shall be for the Commonalty; the fifth House and its Lord shall be for the Embassador; the tenth House and its Lord for the King; and that Planet which the Lord of the Fifth, or the Moon doth apply unto, shall shew the occasion of the Embassy: if the application be by Sextile, or Trine unto the Lord of the tenth; or if the Lord of the fifth Judgments appertaining unto the sixth House.

The Sixth House generally hath relation unto the native or querents sicknesses, his servants and small Cattle. Also in a Revolutionary Figure, either for the whole year, or month. It concerns the Diseases incident thereunto, the Moon being usually joyned in judgment therein, according as we find her afflicted.

As concerning the way in giving judgment upon the

the time of Decumbiture of any sick persons, or otherwise upon the sight of the Urine, or any strong fit, I have sufficiently treated in my Astrological Practice of Physick; wherefore I shall in this place be very brief herein. The first thing considerable herein, is so to frame your Ascendant, that it, together with its Lord or Planet posited in the Ascendant, may exactly personate the sick; for except we have a true Ascendant, it's in vain to give judgment by a Figure of twelve Houses: for not only the Ascendant, but also the fourth, sixth, eighth and twelfth Houses will be concerned herein; wherefore if the Ascendant fail, all the rest must needs be out of order. Now my usual way of practice herein, except I can be well assured of a right Ascendant, is in all acute Diseases to take notice of the Planet which afflicteth the Moon, or if the Disease be Chronick, then what Planets afflict the Sun: and so by the Rules in my before-mentioned Book of Physick to find the Disease with its true cause: and so by a critical Figure of sixteen equal parts to find the judicial, intercedental, critical, or mortal Days.

How to get the true Ascendant.

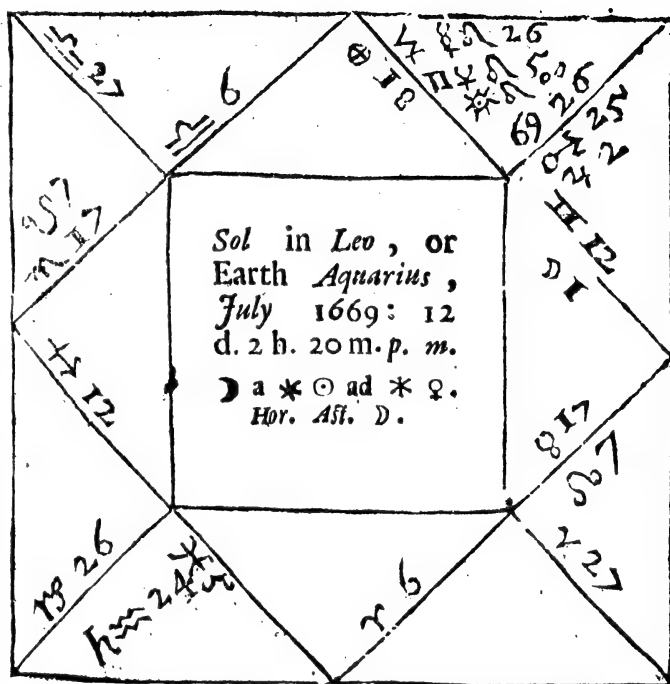

If the Patient be a stranger, you must make inquiry by the Messenger, that so you may be informed whether the Ascendant doth accord with the person of the sick. But if the Messenger fail herein, as it may sometimes by chance, then you must either by your own view, or by inquiry one way or other get knowledge herein. I confess I have oft-times, when the Figure has been radical, being set for the exact time of Decumbiture, or of a strong fit, and sometimes Rules concerning the Native or Querents Servants: also small Cattle, as Sheep, Goats, Hogs, Coneyes, &c.

The sixth House no way afflicted, and Mercury the Lord thereof free from the Infortunes, casting his friendly Sextile to the Cusp of the sixth; also casting his Semi-Sextile Aspect unto the Part of Fortune, argueth good Servants, and profit by dealing in small Cattle. Secondly, Venus, Lady of Libra, a sign intercepted in the sixth, being in the second, argueth good servants, and profit by dealing in small Cattle, as aforesaid. Thirdly, Venus Lady of the Ascendant, and Sign intercepted on the sixth, doth cast his Trine unto the said sign in the sixth, another argument of good servants, and profit by dealing in small Cattle. Generally, if the sixth House be not afflicted, nor its Lord; and that there be any friendly Aspect between the Lord of the sixth, and Lord of the Ascendant, or if there be reception or translation by friendly Aspects, it sheweth good servants, and profit by dealing in small Cattle: or if the Lord of the sixth be in the Ascendant, or Lord of the Ascendant in the sixth, and not impeded; or if the Lord of the sixth be in Trine or Sextile Aspect unto the Part of Fortune, or its Lord; or if the Lord of the sixth be in the second, or doth cast his Trine or Sextile Aspect to the Cusp of the Ascendant, or second, then the native or querent may expect good and profitable servants, and gain by dealing in small Cattle. Note, that whatsoever by the Rules before-going promisseth good, if crossed by contraries, it sheweth evil.

the Lords of the Ascendant, and second, in signs female; all which are Arguments of a Female Thief.

Whether one Thief, or more.

The Moon, who is Significator of the Thief, being in Gemini, a double bodied sign, in Sextile to the Sun and Venus, both peregrine in a cadent House; and Mercury, who disposeth of the Part of Fortune, being in the same Sign and House; and all three being disposed by the Moon, argueth that such persons who are described by those three Planets are Companions unto the Thief. But if any thing be stoln, and the time of losing certainly known, then the Lord of the Hour, or Lord of the Sign ascending (if peregrine) or a peregrine Planet in an Angle, shall be Significator of the Thief.

Some Observations concerning the Discovery of the Thief.

1. The Sun or Moon in the Ascendant, or beholding the Ascendant, or Lord of the Ascendant, peregrine, the Lord of the second peregrine in an Angle, or Significator of the Thief in the Ascendant, tenth, or fourth House, noteth one of the House, or one frequenting the House.

2. The Lord of the second peregrine in an Angle, or the peregrine Planet in the second, noteth one of the House.

3. The Lord of the third peregrine in an Angle, or the peregrine Planet in the third, sheweth a Neighbour.

4. The Lord of the fourth peregrine in an Angle, or

or the Lord of the seventh in the fourth; if there be no peregrine Planet in an Angle, sheweth the Father or some ancient body dwelling in the House.

5. The Lord of the seventh, or peregrine Planet in the fifth, or Lord of the fifth peregrine in an Angle, signifieth a Child, Son, or Daughter of the Querent, or one who keepeth or belongeth unto some Inn, Tavern, Ale-house, or Play-house.

6. The Lord of the sixth peregrine in an Angle, or Lord of the seventh, or Significator of the Thief, the sixth sheweth a servant, or one who is,
or hath been employed by the querent.

7. The Lord of the seventh in the seventh being Significator of the Thief, if the Planet be female, argueth the querents Wife, or Sweet-heart;
but if the Planet be male, it sheweth an over-thwart Neighbour; and sometimes a Female Planet sheweth a Female Neighbour.

8. The Lord of the seventh in the eighth, or Lord of the eighth peregrine in the seventh; and a Male Planet sheweth a Butcher, or one who doth sometimes kill Cattle for the querent; if a Female Planet it sheweth some Wash-woman, or Chearhousewife that useth sometimes to be employed.

9. The Lord of the ninth peregrine in the seventh; or Lord of the seventh in the ninth, argueth a travelling vagrant person, or some poor Clerk, or Hireling Priest.

10. The Lord of the seventh in the tenth, or Lord of the seventh peregrine in the tenth, argueth one who is employed by the querent, sometimes it signifieth one of power in the querents house.

11. The Lord of the seventh in the eleventh, or Lord of the eleventh peregrine in the seventh, signifieth one employed about Lands or Possessions of
the

the querent, or doth belong to the querents Mother.

11. The Lord of the seventh Significator of the Thief in the twelfth, or Lord of the twelfth peregrine in the seventh, argueth a poor travelling stranger, or one who liveth by deceit, and delighteth in wickedness, and doing evil.

Concerning Marriage.

Whether the Native or Querent shall ever marry by the Figure.

First, the Ascendant being a fruitful Sign, is one Testimony of Marriage.

Secondly, Mars the Lord thereof is in a fruitful Sign, argueth Marriage.

Thirdly, the Degrees ascending are the Terms of Venus, another argument of Marriage.

Fourthly, Mars Lord of the Ascendant is in the Terms of Venus, which argueth Marriage.

Fifthly, The Moon in the seventh, who disposeth of Mars, Lord of the Ascendant, argueth Marriage.

Sixthly, the Sun a general Significator of Men is in Conjunction of Venus, argueth Marriage.

Seventhly, The Moon separateth from the Sextile of Sol, and applyeth unto the Sextile of Venus, which argueth Marriage.

1. The Moon in Gemini, a barren sign argueth no Marriage.

2. The Sun in Leo, a barren sign, sheweth no Marriage.

3. Mars Lord of the Ascendant, combust, argueth no Marriage.

4. Venus

4. Venus Lady of the seventh is combust, sheweth no Marriage.

Here are seven Testimonies of Marriage, and but four against it; wherefore we may conclude that the native or querent shall marry.

What manner of Wife, and how many Wives the Native or Querent may expect; and when marry.

First the Moon in the seventh who is Consignificator of this House is in Sextile to Venus, Lady of the seventh, and in Gemini, a double bodied sign: and both the Moon and Venus above the earth, which argueth that the Native or Querent may have two Wives; had the Sun or Mercury been Female Planets, it would have shewed three Wives.

When marry by the Figure.

That Planet which is Female nearest the Ascendant and Lord thereof shall be Significator of his first Wife, provided that the Native or Querent doth not neglect the time, which by account allowing five years to every House, must be before the twentieth year of age (sometimes when the Ascendant is not afflicted, and the Lord thereof is strong, we allow six years to every House) the Planet Venus in sign, and House where she is, shall describe her person. After which age and time prefixed, if the Native or Querent should not marry as aforesaid, then the native or querent must not expect to marry until near or about the twenty sixth year of his age, by which account as aforesaid we shall come to the place of the Moon in the seventh House. But if the rent found what manner of person she was; then either by Sign or Planet I did always shape the person; for its impossible that 7 Planets can particularly shape every Body; wherefore in such Cases we must have regard to the Signs and their Lords. As for Example, a Man or Woman may be born under the sign Scorpio, which representeth one of a thick squat Corporature, of Complexion swarthy, hair sad brown, or black; yet notwithstanding Mars the Lord thereof represents one of a middle Stature, Complexion ruddy, hair between red and sandy-flaxen; yet for all this difference Mars must be regarded, as having to do with the natives actions. Now if we find that the Lord of the Ascendant be in Conjunction, Trine, or Sextile Aspect with the Lord of the seventh, or Planet posited in the seventh; or otherwise, if neither the Sign on the Cusp of the seventh, or in the seventh, their Lords, or Planet posited in the seventh doth personate the quesited party; then if unto that Planet which by his sign, or of himself doth personate the Female Body inquired after, there doth happen such aspects as aforesaid, or if there be reception, translation, or collection by any other Planet (provided that the Planets concerned do receive him in some of his essential Dignities) then the querent shall prevail.

Secondly, if the Lord of the Ascendant be in the House of the quesited, it giveth hopes. But if the Lord of the quesited be in the Ascendant, it giveth assurance, for it sheweth her great affection, and she seemeth to bear his disposing.

Thirdly, if the Moon or any inferior Planet doth separate from the Lord of the Ascendant, and apply unto Venus the general Significator of Women, or doth separate from a Female Planet, and apply unto unto the Lord of the Ascendant, or to the Sun, the general Significator of men, it argueth speeding.

Generally, in this question, if there were any friendly Aspect between the Significators of the querent and quesited; or if there were reception, translation, or collection between them: or if the Planet which represents the quesited were in the Ascendant, or disposed by him, as being in either of his Houses, the querent shall prevail.

But if there be no friendly Aspect between their Significators, nor reception, translation, or dwelling in House, then it sheweth no speeding: and on the contrary, if her Planet doth bear any friendly Aspect unto others, then it sheweth that she is already intangled, or doth bear affection unto such persons who are signified by them: and if we find her Planet separating, and applying by Quartile or Opposition Aspects, or that her Planet bear no friendly aspect unto any Male Planet; then it sheweth that she is not as yet minded to marry.

How speedily to perfect the Marriage, where there is any hopes or assurance thereof.

If by the Rules before going we find that the querent is like to obtain his desire, and that the quesited doth bear any affection to the querent, then for to expedite the business, having by the Rules beforegoing found under what Planet each party is governed, then let the querent make his address when their Significators are in Conjunction, Sextile or Trine Aspects unto each other, during their Orbs; if applying unto Partil Aspect, the better; and likewise let the querents Significator dispose of hers. But

if

if time and opportunity will not or cannot conveniently admit the querent to make his address at the times aforesaid, then let the Moon be separating by friendly Aspect from the one, and applying unto the other: but of this I shall say more, when I shall treat of Elections in my next Book.

Who shall be Master of the two.

That Planet which is strongest dignified, and is the heavier Planet, or is in reception with heavy and ponderous Planets, shall be Master. Generally, that Planet which is weakest, lightest, or lowest, ill dignified, and in a cadent House, shall be subject.

Which shall die first.

That Planet which first cometh unto combustion, and is most weak, retrograde, or in his fall, or first cometh unto Conjunction with the Lord of the eighth, shall die first; I mean that person whom the Planet represents; and it must be with the Lord of the eighth from their Ascendant, be it querent, or quesited.

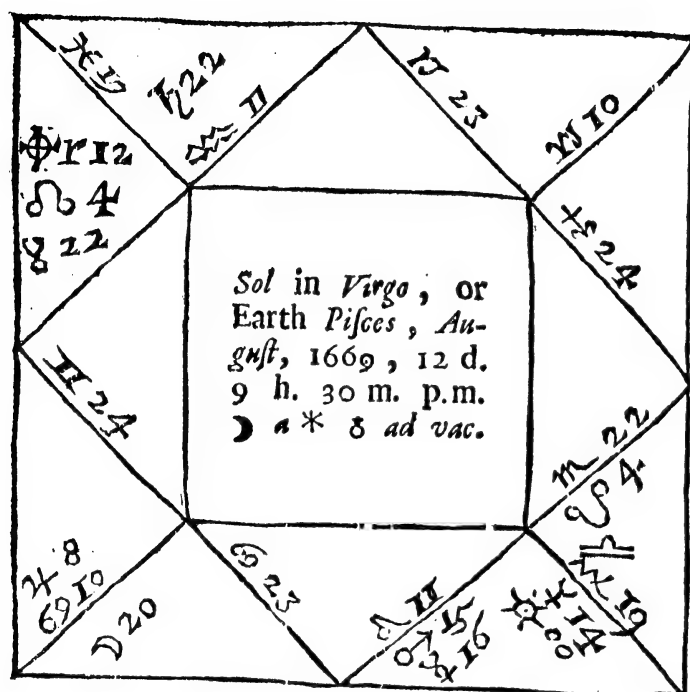

Concerning Law-Suits, Duels, and Controversies.

That Planet which is strongest in Essential and Accidental Dignities and joyned unto, or aspect-ed with the Fortunes, shall overcome. If weak, and joyned to the Infortunes, he shall be worsted. If both Planets be near equal in strength, neither shall overcome. If both Planets be weak, and joyned to Infortunes, they shall both be undone, or receive great prejudice thereby. If both Significators be in the eighth Houses from their Ascendants, or be joyned or evilly aspected of their Lords, they shall kill each other in the Duel. If evilly aspected by the Lord of the fourth, and he an Infortune without reception, it's as dangerous as the other.

Judgments

Judgments appertaining unto the Eighth House.

This House concerns the native or querents death, the dowry of his Wife, or the Estate of the Husband: also Wills and Legacies, whether one absent be dead or alive.

I have already upon questions relating unto the first and third House, set forth the manner how to give judgment herein: for in all questions the Ascendant with its Lord is for the querent; and for the quesited that Sign and House which hath relation unto unto the party inquired after. Example, if a Brother or Neighbour, then the third House, and its Lord; if a Father, the fourth; the fifth a Child; and so of the rest. Generally, if the Significator of the absent party be strong, and well dignified, in Sextile or Trine to the Fortunes, or lately separated from a Fortune; or if the Moon did separate from a Fortune, and apply unto the quesited Significator by Trine or * Aspect, and not impeded, it argueth the absent party is well. But if the Significator of the absent party be weak, or joyned unto, or evilly aspected of the Infortunes, or to the Lord of the sixth, eighth, or twelfth House, or is in combustion of the Sun, then it sheweth that the absent party is either dead, or in a sad condition, according unto the nature of the House, and Sign which the afflicting Planet is in, or is Lord of, and according unto the nature of the Planet afflicting, judge not death, except there be two testimonies thereof.

What manner of death the native or querent may expect by the Figure before-going, viz. whether natural, or violent.

First I find Venus Lady of the Ascendant in a humane, no way afflicted of the Infortunes, which sheweth a natural death.

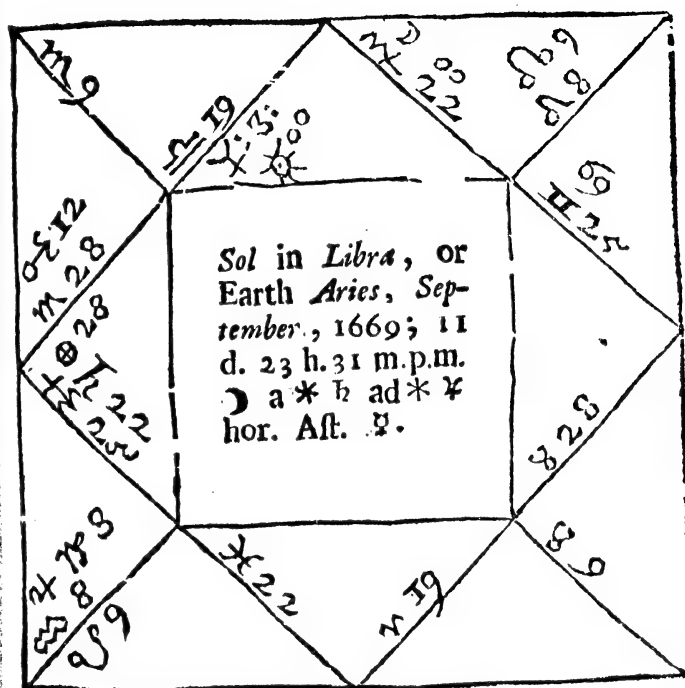

Secondly, neither the Sun or Moon are in violent Signs, nor yet afflicted by the malevolent Planets out of violent signs, which imports a natural death.

Thirdly, Jupiter a Fortune, Lord of the eighth in Quartile to Venus, Lady of the Ascendant, sheweth a natural death.

Fourthly, No Infortune in the eighth House, nor of Fortune, argueth a competent portion: the Moon Lady of the Fourth (being the tenth from the seventh House) disposing of Jupiter Lord of the eighth, argueth that the portion of the Wife is in the custody of her Mother: for by the Figure her Father seemeth to be dead, by reason Mars and Mercury, the one Lord of her sixth, the other Lord of her eighth, are in Opposition unto Saturn, Lord of her fourth. Generally in this question, if the Lord of the eighth be strong, and well dignified; or if there be a Fortune in the eighth, and not afflicted; if the Sign and Degrees on the Cusp of the Eighth, be the Terms of a Fortune; if the Womans Part of Fortune be strong, and well aspected of the Fortunes; if the Lord of the eighth be in Trine or Sextile to the Fortunes, or be in reception with the Fortunes; if the Fortunes be in friendly Aspect unto her Part of Fortune, it promiseth wealth; the stronger the Significators are, the more wealth; the weaker, the less wealth. As in this way we give judgment for the native or querent being a Male. So by the same Rule we may give judgment for a Female, mutatis mutandis.

Judgments

Judgments appertaining unto the Ninth House.

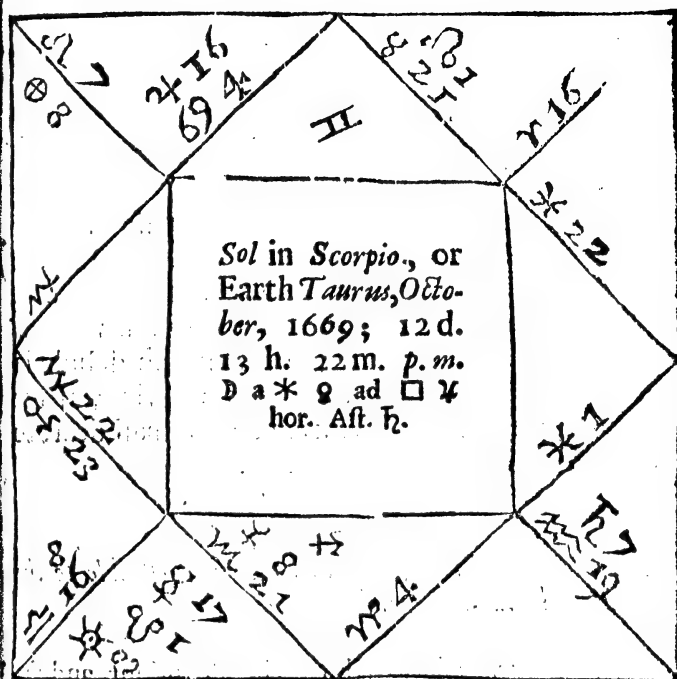

This House concerns the Natives Religion and Dreams, his Wifes Kindred and Neighbours: also Voyages at Sea, and long Journeys, Trading or Merchandising into any far Countrey.

Concerning the Natives Religion.

The ninth House being no way afflicted by the Infortunes, Concerning Dreams.

If the Lord of the ninth, or Planet posited in the ninth, doth behold the Lord of the ascendant with Quartile or Opposition Aspect, it sheweth mischief to the querent, according unto the nature of the Planet and Sign he is in, or House whereof he is Lord, if Mars be the afflicting Planet it threatneth mischief by rude Soldiers or Thieves; if Jupiter be the afflicting Planet then it concerns his Religion; if the Sun, damage or mischief by eminent men in power; if Mercury, by Accounts; if Venus, by Women; if the Moon, by Travellers, or vagrant persons; if the Lord of the ninth afflict the Lord of the second, or Part of Fortune, or its Lord, it concerns his Estate; if afflict the third House, or its Lord, it concerns his Brethren, Kindred or Neighbours; if the fourth, his Father, and so of the rest. But if a Fortune be in the ninth, or Ascendant, or the Lord of the ninth or ascendant be in Trine or Sextile Aspect to the Fortunes, then judge no evil will befall the querent; if the native or querents Dream doth correspond with those Rules foregoing, then it will one way or other fall out accordingly.

Judgments*Judgments appertaining unto the Tenth House.*

A Radical Figure set for the nearest time of the Sun his entrance into Scorpio, with judgments thereupon, concerning the tenth House; wherein are chiefly concerned the native or querents honour, or preferment; also his Office, Trade or Profession: it also concerns the natives Mother, or Wifes Father. And in yearly Revolutions, it concerns the King and Nobles.

What

What Profession the Native will be most addicted unto by the Figure.

First, Mercury who is Lord of the Ascendant and tenth, and Almuten of the Figure, is within five degree of the Cusp of the fourth House in Trine to Jupiter, and in the Terms of Venus, Lady of the tenth: also the Moon in the Terms of Venus, argueth the native will most delight in merchandising, and to be a Scholar; he shall also delight in Musick, and to deal in Venus Commodities; if the native or querent be a Gentleman, he shall desire to live by his means in the Country.

What Trade or Profession will be most profitable to the Native by the Figure.

First, Mercury is Lord of the ascendant and second; now under this Planet are all Merchants, and Accountants, Clerks and Scholars, and such like.

Secondly, Mercury is in Trine to Jupiter, a Fortune, who is Consignificator of the ninth and second Houses.

Thirdly, Mars Lord of the ninth is in the second in the Sign Virgo, which is the House and Exaltation of Mercury; also Dragons Head a Fortune is in the ninth.

Lastly, the Part of Fortune is in the same Triplicity, agreeing with the Cusp of the ninth; and the Sun Disposer of the Part of Fortune is in Sextile to the ascendant; all which are arguments that that the Native shall thrive chiefly by merchandising and Trading beyond Sea, or Countries remote; he shall also thrive by Learning, being employed either in the Law or Divinity.

What Commodities will be best for the Native to trade in.

First, Taurus, a Female Sign is on the Cusp of the tenth, and Venus Lady thereof: the Degrees on the Cusp of the tenth House are the Terms of Jupiter, and he in the sign Cancer, the House of the Moon; also Jupiter is in Trine to Mercury, Lord of the first and second, and the Moon in Sextile to Part of Fortune, which argueth that either by studying in Law or Divinity, or by dealing in such Commodities which are under the Dominion of Jupiter, Venus and Luna, will be most profitable for the Native: also Mars Lord of the ninth, and Consignificator of the tenth, is in the second; had Mars been strong, he might have gained by dealing in Martial Commodities. What those Commodities are, and likewise under the other Planets I have set down elsewhere in this Book: and likewise what Countries are under each Sign.

Generally, in what Planets Terms the Lord of the Ascendant is in, the Native will be much inclined unto the nature of that Planet both in his Qualities and Profession. Likewise those Planets which the Lord of the Ascendant beareth any friendly Aspect unto, or is in Conjunction with, he shall somewhat participate of the nature of those Planets. Also that Planet which is Almuten of the Figure at birth, especially having most Dignities

in

Quartile or Opposition Aspects, or be in those places aforesaid; or if the Lord of the ascendant, second, tenth, or Part of Fortune be combust, weak, or peregrine, and in Bad Houses, then it argueth no thriving; or if the principal Significator of Trade or Profession be in Quartile or Opposition unto the Lord of the ascendant, Lord of the second, or second, or unto Part of Fortune or his Lord, then judge no thriving.

Concerning the Natives Mother, or Wifes Father, his Lord, Master or Governor, whether the Native or querent shall receive good or ill from them by the Figure.

First Mars Consignificator of the tenth House is in Sextile to Mercury Lord of the ascendant.

Secondly Mars is in the second disposed by Mercury Lord of the ascendant.

Thirdly the Sun the general Significator of Fathers, as being Consignificator of the fourth; also the Sun ruleth over men of great power, he is near Sextile unto the Cusp of the first House.

Fourthly Mars and Mercury are in reception by House.

Fifthly, the Moon is in Sextile unto the Part of Fortune, all which are arguments of Love, Respects, and Gain from them.

Generally, if the Lord of the tenth be in the first House; or if Mars or the Sun be therein, and well aspected of the Lord of the ascendant; or if there be reception or translation betwixt them, it argueth love from them; if Mars, the Sun, or Lord of the tenth be strong in the second, or be in Trine or Sextile Sextile Aspect unto the Lord of the second, or unto Part of Fortune or his Lord, or if there be reception or translation betwixt them, it sheweth gain from them; also if there be Collection (by a third Planet) of the principal Significators, and that they be in any of his Dignities; then the party signified by the collecting Planet shall bring the desire of the native or querent unto perfection. Also if Jupiter be well aspected of the principal Significators, it promiseth gain or preferment from them. But if the principal Significators be contrary unto what is aforesaid, then it sheweth damage, or vexations from them, either unto his person, or estate. If they be in Quartile or Opposition unto the Ascendant, or its Lord, then it concerns his person: if in Quartile or Opposition unto the second House, its Lord, or Part of Fortune or his Lord, or unto Jupiter, who is Consignificator of the second House; then it will concern his Estate.

Judgments appertaining unto the Eleventh House.

This House concerns the native or querent's Friends, and things hoped for, the health of his Master or Governor, if under subjection.

What

What Friends, or Friendship the Native or Querent may expect by the Figure.

First in regard there is no Planet in the Eleventh House, we must take notice of those Planets which are principally concerned herein, which are Jupiter, Mars and Sol, the one being Lord of the Cusp, the other of the Sign intercepted therein, the third as Consignificator thereof, the ascendant Gemini shall concern the native or querent's person; the Lord thereof his actions, as having to do with others: the sign on the Cusp of the second House, and the Moon Lady thereof, shall concern his Estate.

First Mars Lord of the eleventh is in the same Triplicity with the Sign ascending, and in Sextile to Mercury, Lord of the Ascendant, which argueth love and respects from Martial Men, as unto his person and actions; but as unto his estate, it sheweth rather damage than profit, because Mars is in Quartile to the Cusp of the second House, and likewise unto Jupiter placed therein.

Secondly, Jupiter, Lord of the eleventh, a Fortune, being in the second House, argueth gain by such persons who are under the Dominion of Jupiter.

Thirdly, The Moon Lady of the second is in Trine to Jupiter, a Fortune in the second, which argueth friendship and gain, not only from such who are under the Dominion of Jupiter, but also from Lunar Female People.

But Mercury Lord of the Ascendant & applying unto Combustion, argueth no good from Solar persons, and the rather, as being in Opposition unto the the sign ascending; but in regard that γ is in the second, and is Lord of the eleventh, and doth dispose of the Sun and Mercury, as being in his House, it argueth that a Jupiter-Friend shall be a means to reconcile a Solar person unto the native or querent.

Whether the Querent shall enjoy the thing hoped for by the Figure.

First, Mercury, Lord of the Ascendant is in Sextile to Mars Lord of the eleventh.

Secondly, The Moon is in Trine to Jupiter, Lord of the Cusp of the eleventh. Now finding two Testimonies of injoying, and no contradiction, we may conclude, that the native or Querent shall injoy the thing hoped for. Generally, if the Lord of the Ascendant be in the eleventh, or if the Lord of the eleventh be in the Ascendant, or if there be any friendly Aspects, Reception or Translation of Light from the one to the other by Δ , or any inferior or \Re Planet, then the native or querent may expect to injoy the thing hoped for. But if you find no such Aspects, Receptions, Translations, or being in Houses as aforesaid, judge the contrary.

Concerning the Wealth of the Querent's Master, Governor or his Mother, or Wifes Father by the Figure.

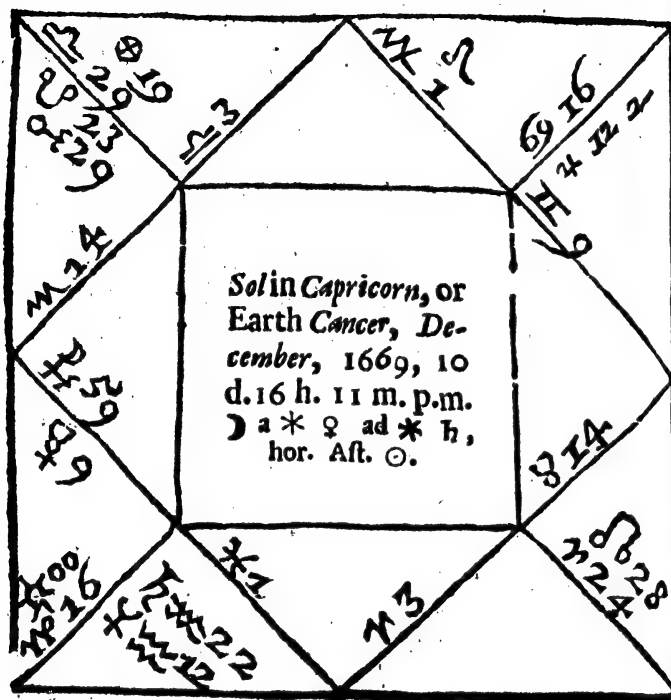

In answer hereunto first the tenth House, and Saturn Lord thereof shall be Significator of the quesited person; the eleventh House and its Lord shall concern their Estate together with their Part of Fortune; finding Saturn, Lord of the tenth, strong,

as being in his House, and not afflicted, argueth that the quesited is in health of body: but in regard the eleventh House hath no Fortune therein, and finding both Jupiter and Mars Lords thereof, peregrine, and out of Angles, the quesited's Part of Fortune also weak, it argueth that the querent's Master, Governor, his Mother, or Wifes Father is poor, and of small estate at the present; but in regard Saturn Lord of the quesited's Part of Fortune is strong, and applying unto the Trine of the Cusp of the Ascendant, it argueth a probability of assistance from them in the future. Generally, if the Lord of the eleventh be strong in essential or accidental Dignities; or if there is a Fortune in the eleventh, or doth cast their Trine or Sextile Aspect to the Lord of the eleventh, if their part of Fortune be strong, and well aspected of the Fortunes, or if there be reception or translation between the Lord of the eleventh, and any Fortune well dignified, or if the Sun who is Consignificator of that House, be strong in the tenth or eleventh, or is in Trine or Sextile Aspect to the Lord of the tenth or eleventh Houses, or unto their Part of Fortune, or his Lord, it argueth wealth. But if you find the principal Significators weak, and evilly aspected, and in bad Houses without reception or translation unto the Fortunes, then judge the contrary.

Observations

Observations appertaining unto the Twelfth House.

This House hath relation unto private Enemies, Imprisonment, Self-undoing, Great Cattle and Witches.

Of private Enemies, who, and what persons they are by the Figure.

First, Venus, Lady of the twelfth, being a Female Planet

Planet in Feminine Degrees; also in a masculine sign, and masculine House, argueth that those people, whether male or female, who are under the Dominion of Venus, either by shape, trade, or profession, shall always be inimical unto the native or querent, and the more, as being in Quartile to the Ascendant in a fix'd sign; also they shall deceive him under the pretence of friendship; for Venus is Lady of the eleventh so well as the twelfth; likewise men signified by Mars, especially if employed by the native or querent shall prove deceitful, and shall privately be inimical unto him; also the native or querent shall be apt to undo himself by his own rash actions, by reason Mars Lord of the Ascendant is in his terms in the twelfth, near the Dragons Tail, it also sheweth that in youth the native will be subject unto the Small Pox, Measles, or some pestilential grief.

Generally, those Planets which are Lord or Lords of the twelfth House, and doth behold the Ascendant or Lord thereof with Quartile or Opposition Aspect; and likewise such Planets which are unfortunate in the twelfth, shall always be inimical unto the native or querent; if the Lord of the twelfth, or Planet posited therein, be in Quartile or Opposition unto the second house, his Lord, or Part of Fortune or his Lord; then those persons who are under the Dominion of those Planets shall be prejudicial unto his estate; if unto the tenth house, or his Lord, then unto his Office, Trade, or profession; if the Lord of the tenth be in the twelfth peregrine, or is an evil Planet, and doth behold the Lord of the ascendant, Lord of the second, or Part of Fortune, or its Lord, with any evil Aspect, then judge damage or mischief from some eminent man in power; if the

the Lord of the third be in the twelfth unfortunate as aforesaid, then judge damage or mischief from some Neighbour or Kinsman, you may describe their person, trade, or profession by the Planet afflicting. And so of the rest.

Whether a Prisoner shall be delivered, or continue long in Prison.

Signs of Deliverance are as followeth.

1. The Lord of the Ascendant, and the Moon swift in motion, argueth soon deliverance.

2. If the Lord of the ascendant, or the Moon give their strength to a Planet in the third or ninth house, it sheweth deliverance.

3. The quarters of Heaven being signs movable or feminine, and the Lord of the ascendant or Moon being in them, it sheweth speedy deliverance.

4. The Lord of the ascendant or Moon in movable signs, aspecting the Fortunes with any friendly aspect, argueth enlargement.

5. The Disposer of the Lord of the ascendant, or of the Moon being in Trine or Sextile Aspect of a fortune, argueth enlargement.

6. A fortune in the Ascendant, or the Moon separating from the Lord of the ascendant, and applying unto a Fortune, sheweth enlargement.

7. The Lord of the ascendant separating from the Lord of the fourth, or the Lord of the fourth separating from the Lord of the ascendant, and applying by any friendly aspect unto a fortune, argueth deliverance.

Lastly, If the ascendant and his Lord be fortunate, and the Moon being in her Wain Septentrional descending, and applying unto a Fortune (especially specially Venus, who is Consignificator of the twelfth House) it sheweth speedy enlargement.

Signs of no Deliverance, or of long continuance in Prison, are as followeth.

1. If the Angles be fix'd, and the Lords of those Angles be in fix'd Signs, it argueth long stay in prison.

2. If the Lord of the Ascendant be in the fourth weak, it sheweth long stay.

3. If the Lord of the ascendant give power to the Lord of the twelfth, or unto a Planet peregrine in an angle, or if the Lord of the twelfth give power unto the Lord of the ascendant, it argueth long continuance in prison.

4. If the Lord of the ascendant give power to an Infortune in an Angle who is Lord of the eighth or fourth, it argueth death in prison.

5. If the principal Significators be slow in motion, especially in fix'd Signs, or ♄, it argueth long continuance.

6. If the Lord of the ascendant be combust without reception, and the Sun not being disposed by him, it argueth death in prison, especially in the fourth, eighth, or twelfth Houses.

7. The Lord of the Ascendant or Moon in fix'd Signs at the time of imprisonment, or at the time of the question, the Figure being radical, sheweth long imprisonment.

Lastly, if the Lord of the Ascendant, or ♃ be in the eighth House peregrine, or afflicted by ♄ or Mars, it argueth death; if afflicted by the Quar- tile or Opposition of Saturn, by hard usage; if by Mars by the Sword.

Con-

Concerning great Cattle, as Horse, Ox or Cow, &c. whether the Native or Querent shall be fortunate, or unfortunate in dealing therein by the Figure.

1. Venus, Lady of the Cusp of the twelfth, who is Consignificator thereof, is afflicted of Saturn, who rejoyceth in this House, by reason it's the House of mischief, sheweth ill by dealing therein.

2. The Dragons Tail being therein importeth no good.

3. Venus Lady thereof disposeth of Part of Fortune, and is in Quartile to the Ascendant, another argument of damage or loss by dealing therein.

Lastly, Jupiter Lord and Consignificator of the second House is in Quartile unto the Part of Fortune, in the twelfth; all which are arguments that it will not be profitable for the native or querent to deal in great Cattle.

Generally, If there be a Fortune in twelfth, or if the Lord of the twelfth be a Fortune, or well dignified, and in Trine or Sextile Aspect to the Lord of the Ascendant, or Lord of the second, or unto Part of Fortune or his Lord, or if there be reception or translation betwixt them: or if the Lord of the Ascendant be in the twelfth, or Lord of the twelfth in the Ascendant strong and well aspected of the Fortunes, especially Venus the Consignificator of this House, it argueth gain and profit with good success by dealing in great Cattle.

But if you find the twelfth House afflicted, or the Lord thereof evilly aspected of the Infortunes, or if the malevolent Planets or Dragons Tail be therein, or if the Lord of the twelfth, or Venus, or Saturn be in Quartile or Opposition unto the Lord of the the ascendant, second, Part of Fortune, or its Lord, then judge the contrary.

Concerning a Prisoner fled, the time when not justly known. It being a Horary Question resolved by the Figure.

In this question the Ascendant and his Lord concerneth the querent; the twelfth House, and its Lord concerns the prisoner. Now finding Venus Lady of the twelfth in the sign Aquarius, a Westward Sign; also Libra a West Sign, on the Cusp of the twelfth; the sign Pisces on the Cusp of the fourth, being North and by West; and Jupiter Lord of the fourth in Cancer, a North Sign, adhering to the West: all which considered, sheweth that the prisoner is fled West, somewhat leaning to the North.

How far the Prisoner is gone or fled.

That which I find by experience herein, is to give judgment as followeth. First we must observe whether the sign where the Significator of the Prisoner is, be fix'd, movable or common; for signs movable allow half a mile for every sign which is betwixt the Cusp of the Ascendant, and the place where the Significator of the Prisoner is; for common signs allow a mile and half; and for fix'd signs four miles. Now by this Figure, finding Mercury the Significator of the prisoner to be in a fix'd Sign, I do conclude that the Prisoner should be thirty six miles from the place from whence he fled, Westward, leaning to the North. There being by account nine signs between

The Explanation of the foregoing Table.

First note that the seven Planets are attributed to the seven days of the Week, and governeth the first Planetary Hour after Sun-Rising of that day to which he is attributed, as may be seen by the following Table.

Here you may see that the Sun governeth the first Planetary Hour after his rising on Sunday, being Lord of that day; so likewise the Moon on Monday; Mars on Tuesday; Mercury on Wednesday; Jupiter on Thursday; Venus on Friday; and Saturn on Saturday. Also Venus ruleth the second Planetary Hour on Sunday; Mercury the third; the Moon the fourth; Saturn the fifth; Jupiter the sixth; Mars the seventh; the Sun the eighth, and so successively, in order as they are situate in their Spheres, &c. But to know the quantity of each Planetary Hour, and when they begin and end, the

Table in the foregoing Page will inform you: the use whereof followeth.

Seek the place of the Sun in your Ephemeris to the day proposed, and with the Sign and Degrees he is in, enter the foregoing Table, finding the nearest thereto, either in the first or second Columns to the left hand; and against it in the third Column you will find certain hours and minutes, which informs you that the first Planetary Hour of that day beginneth at Sun-Rising, and endeth at the time signified thereby, from thence until the next number in the fourth Column is the second Planetary Hour, and from thence until the next number in the fifth Column is the third Planetary Hour, as the Figures in the bottom of the Table will inform you. As for example,

Suppose on Friday the first of January. 1669, I would know what Planet rules at eleven a Clock in the Fore-noon, the place of the Sun on that day is in twenty two degrees of Capricorn, with which I enter the Table in the foregoing Page, and in the second left hand Column, and over Capricorn I find 24 degrees, which is nearest my number, and against it in the third Column I find eight hours, forty four minutes, which informs me, that the first Planetary Hour beginneth at Sun-Rising, and endeth at forty four minutes past eight: now my day being Friday, Venus claimeth Dominion over the first hour, and ruleth as aforesaid; Mercury the next Planet in order governeth the second hour, which is from forty four minutes after eight; until twenty three after nine; the Moon from twenty three minutes after nine, until four minutes past ten; Saturn ruleth from four minutes after ten until forty one minutes after ten; Jupiter from forty one minutes past ten, until twenty one minutes after eleven; by which it appears Jupiter was Lord of the hour proposed: but to proceed; Mars ruleth from twenty one minutes after eleven until twelve; Sol ruleth from twelve until thirty nine minutes after it; Venus from thirty nine minutes past twelve until eighteen minutes after one; Mercury from thence until fifty seven minutes after one; Luna from fifty seven past one, till thirty six minutes after two; Saturn from thirty six minutes past two, until fifteen minutes after three; Jupiter from thence until Sun-set, which is at fifty five minutes past three, being the twelfth Planetary hour of that day, as the number twelve at the bottom of the Table doth expresse; but if you would find the Planetary Hour by night, do as followeth:

Take the Opposite Sign and Degrees of the Sun, with which enter the Table as before directed; and the twelve Planetary Hours opposite thereunto will perform your desire in like order by night, as by day; also if you find by the second little Table what Planet ruled the last hour of the day, then the next Planet in order shall govern the first hour of the night following; and if you find the Planet ruling the first hour of the night in the first Column of the second Table, you may proceed in like manner as before you were taught for the day.

But the more ready way for finding the Planetary Hour at all times, it is thus: Against the Sign and Degrees of the Sun in your Table, find the hour of the day proposed, observing the number opposite thereunto in the Foot of the Table, with which number enter the second little Table, finding the same at top, and against the day of the week; in the the Angle of meeting you will have the Planet who is Lord or Ruler of the Hour desired.

I have been the larger herein to make it the more plain and perspicuous to the understanding of the young beginner, being a matter so useful and necessary, as well in the resolution of Questions as Elections and Nativities, &c.

The Second Part.

Notwithstanding I have already set forth the way how to give judgment upon any matter, or thing material which belongeth unto every House, yet it will be of great concernment to elect and chuse times convenient whereby each business, intent or purpose may be perfected and brought unto a timely end according unto the querent's desire. But before we can proceed herein, I must give some instructions concerning the first House, as followeth.

Advertisements

Woman, but rather correspond with the Ascendant, or Planet strong in the Ascendant, or Almuten of the Figure; for altho the native or querents person may be Solar or Saturnine, yet by the Rules before-going he may be marshallly inclined, and under Mars, or according unto the nature of any other Planet under which he is governed: were it not so, each Trade or Profession would have men but of one shape, and so all men governed under any Planet the like; but we see dayly to the contrary; for there are of all shapes under any Planet governed, and likewise in every Trade or Profession whatsoever; wherefore except the native or querents person representing any Planet doth correspond in qualities, trade and profession, it will not serve in case of elections.

I have found by experience, that young men being put unto such Trades or Professions which they were not naturally addicted unto, or did delight in, they seldom or never serve out their times; and if they do indure their bondage, and set up their trade, it's ten to one if they thrive, or long continue therein; for they will be apt to alter their calling according unto the nature of that Planet which hath most predominancy over them. Generally, in resolving any questions, especially in Elections, the Ascendant must be obtained either from the Nativity, or from some accident of body, or from the time when the querent doth propound his question: and then if the Figure be radical, we need not trouble our selves any farther, but only by the Rules before-going to find under what Planet the querent is governed, which must be either the Lord of the Ascendant, or Planet strong in the Ascendant, or Almuten of the Figure, which by observing the querents querents shape, temper and profession may easily be discovered. But as to the quesited there is no other way (except their Nativity might be had) but only by their Sex, Shape, Temper, Imployment, Trade or Profession, to find what Planet is agreeable thereunto; and if their bodily shape and profession doth accord, it's the better; it matters not of what relation they are to the querent; for Kindred, Brothers, Neighbours, &c. may be under several Planets governed, so that to take the Lord of the third in case of dealing with a Kinsman, Neighbour, or Brother will not serve, except the Lord thereof doth accord in bodily shape and qualities, and so of the rest. As the first House is for the querent, so the other eleven Houses shall be concerned in chusing a fit time for the undertaking of any business whatsoever, that so the querents desire may be obtained. These things being premised, I shall proceed.

Elections appertaining unto the Second House.

How to chuse a fit time either by Messengers, or in person to receive Money, or what else is due from any Debtor.

Altho I have already upon those Judgments on the twelve Houses set forth how the Messenger would or should speed in case of sending for Money or any other thing owing without any elected time; yet if the native or querent doth desire to chuse such a time that he may speed, then he must do as followeth: First, having by the Rules before-going found under what Planets both the querent and quesited are governed. As having most predominancy over their their bodily shapes, trades, offices, or employments, which they willingly follow; then if there be a Conjunction, Trine or Sextile Aspect, especially applying thereunto between their Significators, or if there be any strong reception between them; or if the Moon, or any inferior Planet doth translate the influence of the Planet, which concerns the quesited unto the querent, it argueth speeding.

If the Lord of the quesited be in the house of the querent, and well aspected of the Fortunes, and not evilly aspected of the Infortunes, it argueth speeding.

Lastly, if the Planet belonging unto the Debtor, or his Part of Fortune, or his Lord of Part of Fortune be in the querents ascendant, or second house, or is in Conjunction, Trine or Sextile Aspect unto the Lord of the Ascendant; or second house, one of the former testimonies concurring, it giveth an assurance of speeding, provided that the Debtors Planet and Part of Fortune be strong in essential Dignities; for if they be weak, it sheweth willingness without ability to perform. In such cases the Creditor must chuse such times by the Rules before-going when the Debtors Planet and Part of Fortune be strong and well dignified. Sometimes Collection may do it by a third party whose Planet is in Trine or Sextile to both Significators; and likewise may hinder it, as being in Quartile or Opposition to them.

Of borrowing Money.

If the querent doth desire to borrow Money of any body; it's no matter of what relation, by the Rules before-going, having found what Planets are
for

for the querent and quesited: then if their Significators be applying unto each other, the better, if the Significator of the quesited unto the querent by Conjunction, Trine, or Sextile Aspect; or if the Moon or any inferior Planet doth translate the influence of the one to the other, or if there be strong reception betwixt them, it argueth speeding. And if the Lord of the quesited be in the querents House, and so disposed by him; or if the Lord of the quesited be in the querents second, or in Conjunction, Trine, or Sextile Aspect with the Lord of the second, or with Part of Fortune or his Lord, and one or more of the former testimonies concurring, it giveth assurance of speeding; but if the Lord of the quesited or his Part of Fortune be weak and evilly aspected by the Infortunes or Fortunes, or is disposed by them, it sheweth willingness without ability to perform; perhaps his money is out of his hands, or the thing desired is in the custody of others: in such a case the querent must chuse such times when the Planets are suitable, and the Lord of the quesited and his Part of Fortune are strong, and not evilly aspected, or disposed by others; and then the querent may assuredly speed, provided that the querents desires be reasonable.

Elections appertaining unto the Third House.

How to chuse a fit time to set forth in any short Journey, consisting of one or two days travel.

When you set forth for to travel, let the Lord of the Ascendant be strong and well aspected of the Fortunes, and likewise the Moon.

Secondly,

194 An Introduction to Astrology.

Secondly, let there be Conjunction, Trine, or Sextile Aspect between the Lord of the Ascendant and third, or strong reception, let the Moon be separating and applying by friendly Aspect from the one to the other.

Thirdly, if any Fortune be strong in the third, or if the Lord of the third be in the Ascendant, or Lord of the Ascendant be in the third, aspected of any Fortune, it sheweth safe travel.

But if Infortunes be in the ascendant, or third, or the Lord of the ascendant or third be in bad aspect of the Infortunes; or if the Moon be evilly aspected, then judge it not safe to travel, especially if the Lord of the Ascendant be weak.

Generally, if the Lord of the Ascendant be strong in essential dignities, likewise Part of Fortune and its Lord, if more strong than the Infortunes, altho afflicted by them, yet the native or querent shall travel safe, and overcome them, tho they should oppose him either by Robbery or otherwise; and if the inimical Planets which doth oppose be in the eighth or twelfth Houses, the querent shall kill them, or cause them to be imprisoned.

How to chuse a fit time to visit any Kinsman, Brother, or Neighbour, or to obtain any thing desired from them.

This election having relation unto the person of the quesited, the third House and its Lord will not serve herein, except their personal shape, but more especially their qualities, trades or professions doth correspond therewith. As for example, if the Sign Leo should ascend on the Cusp of the third House,

An Introduction to Astrology.

195

House, and the Sun Lord thereof be in his own Terms, or is Almuten of the Figure, and the quesited be either Mercurial or Saturnian by shape and profession, how could it stand with reason that a Conjunction, Trine, or Sextile Aspect between the Lord of the Ascendant and the Sun should work any effect, wherefore by the Rules foregoing having found under what Planets both the querent and the quesited are governed; then if there be Trine or Sextile Aspect between their Significators, or if there be strong reception or translation; or if the Lord of the quesited be in the ascendant, or disposed by the Lord of the ascendant, it argueth friendship and good respects; and if the Lord of the quesited be in Conjunction, Trine or Sextile Aspect unto the Lord of the second, or unto Part of Fortune or this Lord, or in strong reception with one of them, it sheweth gain, or the obtaining of the thing desired: and if the other testimonies of friendship concur, it giveth assurance both of love, and obtaining the thing desired.

Of Elections appertaining unto the Fourth House.

Of building Houses, or Castles.

If the native or querent doth desire to build either House or Castle, or any other building whatsoever, that so it may stand and continue a long time unto posterity; then when the Foundation is laid, let the ascendant, the Lord of the ascendant, the fourth House and its Lord, the second House, and its Lord, the Part of Fortune and its Lord be all strong in essential Dignities, and not afflicted;

if there be a friendly Aspect between the Lord of the Ascendant, and Lord of the fourth, or if the Lord of the Fourth be strong in the ascendant, or if the Moon or any inferior Planet doth separate from the one, and apply unto the other by any friendly Aspects, it argueth a good proceeding therein, and that the Building will be finished to the content of the querent.

Generally if there be a Fortune in the fourth, or if the Lord of the fourth be strong in his own House; and if Saturn, the general Significator of Buildings be strong, and well aspected of the Fortunes, especially of the Sun and Jupiter, who are Consignificators of the second and fourth Houses, then the Building will be of long continuance, and profitable to the querent and his posterity.

Note if the Lord of the ascendant and fourth be well dignified, aspecting or receiving each other, or if the Moon doth separate from the one, and apply unto the other by any friendly Aspects, it argueth a great willingness in the querent to go on with the Building. But if the second House, or Lord thereof be afflicted, and Part of Fortune weak, and evilly aspected, it argueth the native or querent will want money to finish the same: Building is chargeable; wherefore it behoves the querent to begin such a time when all the Significators are strong, and well aspected as aforesaid.

Of buying Lands or Houses.

How to chuse or elect a fit time whereby to purchase either Houses or Lands desired; and likewise to know whether there will be gain or loss thereby.

Having by the Rules depending on the first House found what Planet doth properly belong unto the querent, and likewise unto the quesited, which is the seller; if there be Conjunction, Trine, or Sextile Aspect between their Significators; or if there be strong reception or translation; or if the Planet which concerns the seller be in any of the querents Houses, then it is a good time for the querent to speed; sometimes Collection may do it, and so a third party may happily reconcile any difference which might arise between the buyer and seller.

Whether there will be gain or loss by the bargain.

If there be at the same time when the principal Significators shew speeding, a Fortune in the fourth, or if the Lord of the fourth be strong in his House; or if the querents second be fortunate, either by the presence of a Fortune, or by their friendly Aspect, or if the Lord of the querents second be strong in the fourth; or if the Lord of the Ascendant, second and fourth be strong, and in friendly Aspect to Jupiter, or the Sun, who are Consignificators of the second and fourth Houses, or unto Part of Fortune, or its Lord, it sheweth great gain and profit by the purchase. But contrarily, if the Infortunes do that all those Observations beforegoing should concur, but let the native or querent chuse such a time when the plurality of testimonies are in being, and let not the Infortunes and those Planets be strong which are not desired, and if possible, not in any Aspect of the principal Significators, and let Venus who is Consignificator of the first House be strong, and not afflicted, and in the Terms masculine or feminine desired.

Of Conception, or the best time when to conceive.

Oft-times it so falleth out that young people are married together, and yet have no Children, notwithstanding their earnest desire thereunto. The way by me practised herein is as followeth: first the bodies of both querent and quesited being prepared by such herbs and diet which are agreeable hereunto, some days before the time prefixed, then let the Significators both of the querent and quesited be in fruitful signs together with their parts of Children.

The Moon, and Lord or Lady of the hour concurring, the sign ascending the like; let Venus, Consignificator of the fifth House be strong in a fruitful sign, and in friendly Aspect unto the principal Significators; let the Moon separate by Conjunction, Trine, or Sextile Aspect from the principal Significators, and apply unto Venus, or part of Children, or from Venus, or part of Children unto the principal Significators; some few days before or after the full the better, but not just at the full, for fear of too much accels of superfluous moisture, whereby the Child oft-times perisheth. This way I have found by experience successful, always provided the persons were capable thereof.

Of

Of sending Embassadors, or Messengers, upon any account whatsoever.

When the querent doth send his Embassage, or Message whereby to speed, and be well accepted; then let there be some friendly Aspect (applying the better) between the Lord of the Ascen. and Lord of 5th. (more especially unto that Planet which by shape, office, trade or profession doth personate the quesited) let there be reception, or translation, or dwelling in house betwixt them, let the significator of the Messenger be also in friendly Aspect unto the significators, let the Moon separate, and apply by some friendly aspects between the significators: all which argueth speeding.

Of Elections appertaining unto the sixth House.

Concerning Elections Physical, I have sufficiently treated thereof in my Book of Physick: to which I refer you.

Of hiring Servants.

If the querent desire a fit time to hire a servant; or if a servant come to be hired; then if there be a Fortune in the sixth House, or if the Lord of the sixth be strong in the sixth, and well aspected of the Fortunes; or if there be any friendly Aspect betwixt the Lord of the sixth, and Lord of the Ascendant; or if there be reception, translation, or dwelling in House, especially if the Lord of the sixth be in the Ascendant, it argueth loving and obedient bedient servants : and if the Lord of the sixth be in the second, or in friendly aspect to the Lord of the second, or unto Part of Fortune or his Lord, then it argueth a good and profitable servant.

Generally, if the Planet which by shape, trade, or profession doth own the servant, and be in friendly aspect to the Lord of the Ascendant, the second House, or unto Part of Fortune, or his Lord, or be in the Ascendant in the Terms of a Fortune, or in any good aspect of a Fortune; then there is no doubt but that he will prove a good and profitable servant. But if the sixth House be afflicted, the Lord thereof peregrine, and evilly aspected, especially if the Significator of the servant be out of dignities in terms of the Infortunes, or evilly aspected of the Infortunes, judge the contrary.

Of buying four-footed lesser Beasts, or Creatures, as Sheep, Goats, Hogs, Dogs, Fowl, Fish, &c.

When you intend to buy such like Cattle, or Creatures, as is before-mentioned; then if there be a Fortune in the sixth House, or if the Lord of the sixth be strong, and well aspected of any Fortune; or if there be Conjunction, Trine, or Sextile Aspect betwixt the Lord of the sixth, and Lord of the ascendant, or Part of Fortune or his Lord, if there be reception or translation betwixt them; if the Moon doth separate from the sign, or Lord of the sign, which doth signifie the Beast or Creature (as Aries is for Sheep, Capricorn for Goats, Leo for Lions, Dogs, or such like fierce Creatures, Pisces for Fish, or Water-Fowl, Cancer for Crabs, and Lobsters, &c.) and apply to the querents second House, or Lord thereof; or unto Part of Fortune or his Lord, as if the Lord of the sign, which owneth the Beast, or Creature, be in the querents second, or in Trine, Sextile, or Conjunction with the Lord of the second, or Part of Fortune, or his Lord, then the querent may expect a good and profitable bargain. But if an Infortune be in the second, the Lord of the sixth out of Dignities, and evilly aspected, or if the sign, or Lord of the sign, which signifieth the Beast be evilly aspected, and out of dignities, or an evil Planet be in the sign, or if the Moon be evilly aspected in separating, and applying, and the significators in bad Houses, judge the contrary.

Generally, if the sixth House be fortunate, and the sign which signifieth the Beast or Creature be fortunated, their Lords strong, and well aspected, if there be Conjunction, Trine, or Sextile Aspect between the Lord of the sixth, the Lord of the sign of the Beast, and second House, or the Lord thereof, or Part of Fortune or his Lord, if there be reception, or translation betwixt them, the Moon separating and applying by friendly Aspects unto and from the principal Significators, then the querent may expect gain and profit by dealing in such small Cattle or Creatures as aforesaid; also let the Lord of the Ascendant, and Planet personating the seller be in friendly aspect unto each other, or let there be reception, translation, or dwelling in House, especially let the Lord of the querent dispose of the quesited or seller, so shall the querent and seller well accord about the bargain.

Of Elections appertaining unto the Seventh House.Of Marriage.

If the native or querent shall desire to elect a fit time whereby to visit any Maid or Woman body, that so he may obtain her love, then having by shape, trade, or profession discovered under what Planet she is governed; if there be a Conjunction, Trine, or Sextile Aspect between their Significators, especially applying thereunto, or if there be Reception, or if the Moon, or any inferior or retrograde Planet doth translate the influence of the one to the other, it argueth speeding; if her Significator be in the ascendant fortunate, she shall be much ruled by him; also if the Lord of the seventh, the Moon, the Consignificator of the seventh, or Venus, the usual Significator of Women, be in friendly aspect unto the Lord of the ascendant, and doth dispose of two of them as being in either of his Houses, it argueth speeding; or if there be reception or translation betwixt them, it sheweth speeding; the querent must chuse such a time when most of those before-mentioned testimonies are in force, which time and opportunity will hold during their Orbs or Influence.

Generally, if there be application, by Conjunction, Trine, or Sextile Aspect betwixt the principal Significators unto each other, especially on her part, or if there be reception or translation, or if the Lord of the Ascendant doth dispose of her Planet, as being in one of his Houses: also the Lord of the seventh, the Moon, and Venus concurring, it giveth assurance of good speed: but if the principal Significators are in Quartile or Opposition position without reception, and evilly aspected of the Infortunes, and in bad Houses, judge the contrary. And if the querent cannot stay until such times as the Planets are aspected, as aforesaid, then let him take such a time when the Moon doth separate by friendly Aspect from the Planet which owns the Maid or Woman body, and applyeth unto the Lord of the Ascendant. By the Rules before-going I have oft-times caused the querent to speed.

I shall relate a Passage which happened between a Gentleman, a Friend of mine, and his Lady, in point of wooing.

This Gentleman having formerly made many addresses, and with good success, taking times suitable, insomuch that he thought it impossible to fail; whereupon at a time by himself prefix'd, he was resolved to go and finish what he had before in a great measure perfected. (The truth is, I always told him that he would speed, provided that he took such times as I advised him) I told him that if he went at that time he might unhappily spoil all that he had done, for both her and her Friends would be very cross and averse; for at that time by him intended, the principal significators were in ☐ and ♂, and ♀ did also separate and apply by Quartile and Opposition accordingly. But this Gentleman said he could not believe that there could be any such force in the Stars and Planets, whereby to alter her affection, being so firmly (as he thought) settled. I desired him to call at my House when he returned, and to let me know how he sped: and at his return he told me that he found my words very true; for she was so much altered both in kindness and affection, that he verily believed that some body had done some ill Office betwixt twixt them; and was minded to have left her to her own will. But I cheared him up, and told him, that if he went at such a time as I would direct, he would speed; and then I advised him to finish up the Match, which he did, and they were married accordingly.

Of Duels, and Law-Suits.

If the querent be necessitated to fight a Duel, or to begin a Law-suit, then let the Lord of the Ascendant be strong, and well dignified, and well aspected of the Fortunes, let the Lord of the seventh be weak and debilitated. But especially let that Planet be weak and unfortunate which represents the Enemy; and let the Lord of the Ascendant be his Disposer, and let there be a Fortune in the ascendant, or casting some friendly aspect to the Ascendant; and let there be an Infortune in the seventh, or casting his evil aspect thereunto; all which are arguments that the querent shall prevail, either in the Law-suit, or Duel. If there be a Fortune in the querents fourth, or if the Lord of the fourth be strong in the ascendant, or in Trine or Sextile to the ascendant, or to the Lord of the ascendant, it argueth a good end; and if there be a Trine or Sextile Aspect between the Lord of the fourth, and the Lord of the second, or unto Part of Fortune or his Lord, it sheweth gain by the Suit or Duel; and if the Lord of the tenth and fourth cast their friendly Aspect unto the Ascendant, or his Lord, then the querent shall gain honour by the Law-suit, or Duel.

Generally, if the Lord of the Ascendant be strong strong in essential and accidental Dignities, and well aspected of the Fortunes, and is more strong than the Lord of the seventh, or the Moon, Consignificator of the seventh, but chiefly more strong than the inimical Planet, which is Significator of the Enemy, and is disposed by the Lord of the Ascendant, then the querent will prevail and overcome his Enemy.

Of Elections appertaining unto the Eighth House.

Concerning Wills.

If the native or querent doth desire to chuse a fit time to make his Will, so that it may stand and continue firm unto the end; then let the Lord of the Ascendant, the Moon, and Lord of the eighth, be in fix'd signs, and likewise Saturn, Consignificator of the eighth, let them be well aspected of the Fortunes, and a Fortune in the eighth; also let the Lord of the eighth be in Trine or Sextile Aspect unto the Ascendant, or its Lord, or let there be reception or translation betwixt them out of fix'd Signs or Angles; the major part of these testimonies argueth permanency; and if the Lord of the fourth be strong, or if there be a Fortune in the fourth, beholding the Lord of the Ascendant with friendly aspect; or if there be reception or translation betwixt them, it argueth that the will shall stand and indure unto the end intended.

Generally, the Lord of the ascendant strong, and the Lord of the eighth, and Saturn, all in fix'd signs, with a Fortune in the eighth, well aspected; all these are arguments that the Will shall

Of Profit by any Journey.

If there be a Fortune in the second, especially Jupiter, or if the Lord of the ninth be in the second, or is in friendly aspect with the Lord of the second, or unto Part of Fortune, or his Lord, if there be reception betwixt them; or if the Moon or any inferior Planet doth translate the influence of the one to the other, then the querent may expect gain and profit by the Journey.

Generally, the Lord of the Ascendant strong, and well aspected, and a Fortune in the ninth, the Lord of the ninth, or Jupiter in the ascendant, or in friendly aspect with the Lord of the ascendant, or if there be reception or translation betwixt them, it sheweth safe travel: and friendly aspects betwixt the ninth House, the Lord of the ninth, or Jupiter, with the second House, the Lord thereof. Part of Fortune, and its Lord sheweth gain and profit by the Journey, especially if the Significators be strong, and not afflicted.

Of a Voyage by Sea, to go and return safe with profit thereby.

1. In regard this Election doth not concern any one particular man, but the whole Ship, and Passengers therein; for notwithstanding the querent by his own proper choice of time may signifie safety of travel and profit thereby, yet in the condition of going by Sea, it much differeth from a Journey by Land; for the ascendant of the native or querent shall shall be nothing concerned herein, nor yet his Lord, and altho the ascendant of the native directed unto promissors may shew safety of body and health, yet in case of travelling by Sea, it signifies nothing, nor yet will be in any force; for according unto that undeniable Maxim in Philosophy, General Calamities overwhelm private destinies; when a Ship doth lanch forth to Sea, the ascendant and the Moon must be Significators of the Ship, the Lord of the ascendant the Passengers; the ninth House the Voyage or Place intended to go unto.

When the Ship doth lanch forth, if there be a Fortune in the ascendant, or if the Fortunes, especially Jupiter, doth cast their friendly rays unto the Cusp of the ascendant, if the Lord of the ascendant be strong and well aspected of the Fortunes, especially Jupiter, or the Lord of the ninth, if there be a Fortune in the ninth, and that House not afflicted; if the Lord of the ascendant, and Lord of the ninth, or Jupiter, Consignificator of the ninth be in friendly aspect unto each other, or if there be reception or translation betwixt them; also the Moon in a watery sign, strong and well aspected, and not impeded, then the querent may expect safe travelling in his Voyage by Sea; we cannot expect that all those before-going Rules should accord at one time; but if the major part doth correspond, the Significators being strong, and not evilly aspected, it sheweth safety in travel.

Of Gain or Profit by the Voyage.

If the Part of Fortune belonging unto the Ship be strong, and it, or the Lord thereof, the second House, House, or its Lord be well aspected of the Lord of the ninth, tenth, or Jupiter, who is Consignificator of the second and ninth; the fourth House and its Lord corresponding, and not afflicted, then those that adventure shall have great gain, and profitable Returns, and a good end of their Voyage.

Generally, the ascendant, the Moon, and Lord of the ascendant strong, the ninth House, and the Lord thereof fortunate, each Lord, or Fortunes in those Houses, friendly beholding each other; or if there be reception or translation betwixt them, and not afflicted by the malevolents, it sheweth a prosperous Voyage, and safe travel. Friendly Aspects betwixt the Lords of the ninth and tenth Houses, or Jupiter with the Lord of the second House, the Part of Fortune or its Lord, or if there be reception or translation betwixt them, and Part of Fortune strong, it giveth a sign of great gain and profit by the Voyage.

Of Elections appertaining unto the tenth House.

How to elect a fit time whereby to obtain an Office, Place of Trust, or Command.

In this question the ascendant and its Lord are for the querent, the tenth House and its Lord, and Mars Consignificator thereof, is for the Office, Place of Trust, or Command; if the Lord of the ascendant be in the tenth, or if the Lord of the tenth, or Mars be in the ascendant, and not afflicted, it sheweth speeding.

Secondly, if there be any friendly aspect, reception, ception, or translation by the Moon, or any inferior Planet, betwixt the Lord of the ascendant, and Lord of the tenth, or Mars, Consignificator thereof, it sheweth speeding.

Thirdly, If the Significators be in Angles in fix'd signs, well aspected, and not afflicted, it giveth great assurance of speeding.

Fourthly, if there be collection by a third Planet, by friendly aspects, and that they receive each other in any of their dignities, then the party signified thereby by his means, the Office shall be obtained, especially if the Fortunes attend.

Lastly, if the Lord of the fourth be in Conjunction, Trine, or Sextile Aspect with the Lord of the ascendant, when the business is in agitation, it sheweth a good conclusion.

Generally, if the Lord of the ascendant be in the tenth, or if the Lord of the tenth, or Mars, Consignificator of the tenth, be in the ascendant, or be in Conjunction, Trine, or Sextile Aspect unto each other, the Moon separating from the Lord of the tenth, or Mars, and applying unto the Lord of the ascendant, and not afflicted, it giveth assurance of speeding; and if the Lord of the fourth doth concur herein, it sheweth a good conclusion.

Concerning Profit or Gain by the Office.

If the Lord of the tenth, or Mars, Consignificator of the tenth be strong in the second; or if the second House, its Lord, or Jupiter, or Part of Fortune, or its Lord be in Conjunction, Trine, or Sextile Aspect, or in reception with the Lord of the tenth, or if the Moon doth separate from the Lord of of the tenth or Mars, and apply unto the Lord of the second House, then it sheweth Gain or Profit by the Office; and if the Lord of the fourth doth accord, it shall be of long continuance, and profitable unto the end.

To obtain favour from the King, Governor, or any one in greatest Power and Authority.

In this question the ascendant and its Lord are for the querent; the tenth House, it's Lord, the Sun, and that Planet which is significator of the King or Governor, is for the King, &c. if the Lord of the ascendant be in the tenth strong, and well aspected of the Fortunes, or rather, if the Lord of the tenth, the Sun, or the Kings Significator be in the ascendant, and not afflicted, especially in the Terms of the Lord of the ascendant, it giveth assurance of favour.

Secondly, if there be any friendly Aspect betwixt their Significators, and applying, it sheweth favour.

Thirdly, if there be reception, or if the Moon or any inferior Planet doth separate from the Lord of the tenth, the Sun, or Significator of the King, &c. and apply unto the Lord of the Ascendant, it giveth great assurance of obtaining favour.

Generally, if the Lord of the tenth, the Sun, but more especially the significator of the King, Governor, &c. be in the ascendant, and in Terms of the Lord of the ascendant; or if the Moon doth separate from one of those significators aforesaid, and apply unto the Lord of the ascendant, or if there be reception or translation betwixt them, and strong, and not afflicted, it giveth great assurance of favour.

Of obtaining Love from the Querents Mother, or Wifes Father.

By the same Rule whereby to obtain love or favour from the King, or Governor, you may proceed in obtaining love from the querents Mother, or Wifes Father, only you must add unto the Lord of the tenth, instead of the Sun, the Planet Mars, and instead of the King's Planet, that Planet which governeth the Mother, or Wifes Father.

Of Elections appertaining unto the eleventh House.

How to chuse a fit time to visit a Friend, or to procure the love of any one desired.

The resolution of this question hath been already in a great measure made manifest. As appertaining unto the third and seventh Houses, when you intend to visit your Friend, or procure his love, let there be a Fortune in the eleventh, and let the Lord thereof, or the Sun, who is Consignificator thereof, be in the ascendant, and in the Terms of the Lord of the ascendant, let there be Conjunction, Trine, or Sextile Aspect between the Lord of the ascendant, and the Lord of the eleventh, or the Sun, or let there be reception or translation betwixt them: but principally you must have respect unto that Planet which by shape, trade, or profession doth belong unto the quesited; let there be Conjunction, Trine, or Sextile Aspect between that Planet and the ascendant, or Lord of the ascendant, and applying, or let there be reception or translation betwixt them; let the Friends Planet be in the ascendant, or be disposed by the Lord of the ascendant, and be in the Terms of the Lord of the ascendant, and let not the significators be afflicted, but well aspected of the Fortunes; so shall the querent have love and friendship from his friend desired, which will hold in force until the influence of the Planets concerned is over.

Generally, if the principal significators be adhering unto Conjunction, Trine, or Sextile Aspects, or if there be reception or translation betwixt them, or if the Moon or any inferior Planet doth separate from the Friends Significator, and apply unto the Lord of the Ascendant, or be disposed by the Lord of the Ascendant, and in his Terms, and not afflicted, nor yet impeded, it giveth assurance of love and friendship; and if the Lord of the fourth doth accord, it sheweth a continuance thereof.

Of Elections appertaining unto the Twelfth House.

Of buying Horses, Cows, Oxen, or any other great Cattel, &c.

If the querent desire to buy any sort of great Cattle, let the twelfth House be fortunate in your Election, and the Lord thereof with the Moon, strong, and no way afflicted; and if you intend to buy Oxen or Kine, let Taurus, and Venus Lady thereof, be well dignified; if Horses, then Sagittary and Jupiter; let there be some good aspect betwixt the Lord of the twelfth, the Lord of the Sign which owns the Beast, and the Lord of the Ascendant, or least in reception with each other, and the Moon separating from the Lord of the twelfth, or Lord of the Sign which owns the Beast, and apply unto the Lord of the ascendant by good aspect; also let the ascendant dispose of those Planets which concern the Beast, and let all the significators be strong and well affected; but if you would buy to advantage, then let the Planet which is Lord of the Sign which owns the Beast, or the Lord of the twelfth, and the Moon be strong in the second House, or in conjunction, Sextile or Trine to the Lord of the second, Part of Fortune, or his disposer, or unto Jupiter, a Consignificator of Riches, or if there be reception or translation of light between them, it giveth assurance of profit and gain by the bargain. and this may suffice for the judgment of Elections proper unto the twelve Houses.

There are many other matters or things which might have inserted herein appertaining to Elections, which for brevity sake I did forbear to trouble my self, or Reader withal, being unwilling so much to enlarge my Book; but know that in any matter or thing desired which concerneth thy worldly Affairs, it must have relation to someone of the twelve Houses, and by the same method as thou art before taught, if the Rules therein be but heedfully regarded, you cannot fail in electing a fit and proper time for any purpose whatsoever.

Directions.

The Effects of the five Hylegical Places, directed unto their Promittors, viz. The Ascendant, Mid-Heaven, Sun, Moon, and Part of Fortune.

The Ascendant to the Body of Saturn.

THis Direction importeth such Infirmities unto the Body of the Native which are Saturnine, and proceedeth from cold, dry, and flegmatick humors, sometimes Coughs, and Quartan Agues, and a disturbed brain, through excess of Cold, and causeth a stupidity and dulness unto Actions, also frowardness and melancholy; also dangers by falls; it sheweth eth lingering, and long continued sicknesses, as Consumptions; and sometimes in youth and young people it sheweth the Green Sickness; and the father, when the fix'd Stars do accord therein.

The Ascendant to the Trine or Sextile of Saturn.

This Direction imports thriving by dealing in Saturnine Commodities, or having to do with ancient people. Oft-times the native upon this Direction obtaineth a Legacy or Donation from some ancient body; it sheweth profit by Husbandry, or dealing in Land; it inclineth the native to build, plant, and repair Houses, Gardens or Orchards; it inclineth the native unto gravity and sobriety: sometimes upon this direction the native doth discover and find out a good and profitable Mine; it's an excellent time to visit, or to have dealings with Saturnine; or ancient people, especially if the Lord of the Ascendant in the years revolution doth accord.

The Ascendant to the Quartile or Opposition of Saturn.

This Direction is as bad, if not worse than when directed unto the body of Saturn; it oft-times reneweth Saturnine Grievs, especially such which proceed from a cold, dry and flegmatick Cause; and if Saturn be anareta, it threatneth death, also Ruptures, and Fretting in the Guts, the cold Gout, Swellings in the Hands, Joynts, Thighs, Legs and Feet, especially if the signs and directions in the revolutionary Figure accord. It's a bad time to deal in any Saturnine Commodities, or to deal, or have to do with ancient or Saturnine People, especially if if the Lord of the Ascendant in the revolutionary Figure about the same time when the direction should separate, doth accord.

The Ascendant to the Terms of Saturn.

This Direction inclineth the Native to be much Saturnine, viz. melancholy, envious, malicious, and hard to be pleased; it causeth the native to be froward and dull in his actions; and if fix'd Stars be near the same degree, ascending, of the nature of Saturn, it increaseth the natives distemper.

The Ascendant to the Body of Jupiter.

This Planet being a Fortune, and Friend unto nature, inclineth the native, upon this direction, not only unto healthfulness, but also to be jovial and merry, affable and pleasant; also it inclineth the native to be religious, and to delight in the company of religious men: if Jupiter be Lord of the seventh or tenth, and in Trine or Sextile to Venus, or the Moon, Consignificator of the seventh House, it oft-times produceth Marriage, if the native be capable thereof. But if Jupiter be Lord of the fourth, sixth, eighth or twelfth Houses, it oft-times produceth Sickness, or such Infirmities which Jupiter causeth; as Pleurisies, Fevers, and Infirmities proceeding from the Liver, Wind in the Veins, and putrefaction of Blood, &c. this direction importeth good from jovial persons, and is an excellent time to have dealings with, or to receive any courtesie from, or benefit by them, especially cially if the Lord of the Ascendant accord for the time being.

The Ascendant to the Trine or Sextile of Jupiter.

This direction importeth health and tranquillity of mind, favour from Nobles and eminent Lawyers or Clergy-men, and from Gentlemen of the best rank and quality; the Native is happily employed about some honourable Embassage or Mes- sage, or long journey of profit; it also importeth thriving by any Office or Profession, whether in Court, Country, or City; it sheweth love and respects from any Jupiter-persons, either by shape or profession; and the more, if the Lord of the Ascendant accord for the time being.

The Ascendant to the Square or Opposition of Jupiter.

This direction (contrary unto the Conjunction, Trine and Sextile) produceth enmity and discord from such persons who are under the Dominion of Jupiter, whether Lawyers, Clergy-men, Gentry or others, who by shape, trade, or profession are under this Planet; it's no good time to visit, trade, or to receive any benefit from them; it oft-times stirs up in the body such distempers which Jupiter causeth, especially if Lord of the sixth, fourth, eighth, or twelfth Houses, we must have regard unto the sign and house whereof Jupiter is Lord, and so judge damage, or mischief accordingly.

The Ascendant to the Terms of Jupiter.

This direction causeth the native to be of a jovial
Q 2 temper,

temper, and to be chearful, delighting in good things and good acquaintance; it sheweth a contented mind.

The Ascendant to the Body of Mars.

This Direction stirreth up in the native choler and anger, or passion: also sometimes Controversies, Law-suits, and Duels; it sheweth danger by Thieves and Robbers, also hurts in those places of the body (which the sign where Mars was in doth signifie) by Houses, Swords, or Iron Instruments; also it oft-times produceth such Diseases which Mars causeth, especially if the sign where Mars is doth accord; as Bloody Flux, Leprosie, Scabs, Fevers and Swellings, sometimes the Small Pox, or Plague, if those Diseases reign at the time when the direction operates; it also sheweth damage from Marshal Men.

The Ascendant to the Trine or Sextile of Mars.

Upon this Direction the native will be fortunate in all Marshal Exercises, and shall be well respected of Soldiers (whether Collonels, Captains or others) also it sheweth love and respects from all Marshal Persons either by trades, profession or shapes; also the native shall delight much in all Marshal Affairs; also in regard Mars is Consignificator of the tenth House, it imports thriving by any office, trade or profession, especially wherein Mars hath dominion, or by dealing in Marshal Commodities.

The Ascendant to the Quartile or Opposition of Mars.

This direction causeth Diseases and Mischiefs as bad or worse than the Conjunction; and if Mars be in fiery Signs, it produceth burning Fevers, Swellings, Byles, Botches, and S. Antonies Fire, Impostumations, and sometimes Small Pox, and Plague Sores; it threatneth many Misfortunes and sudden Casualties; also informations and accusations; it stirreth up the wrath of Men marshally employed; also the native will be subject unto rash and unadvised Actions, it importeth no thriving in any military way, or marshal trade, or by dealing with marshal Men, or marshal Commodities: if Mars be in watery signs, it produceth a violent Loosness or Bloody Flux: in airy signs the blood will be the more inflamed and corrupted; also if Mars be in a watery sign it sheweth peril by water, until the influence is over. And so of the rest.

The Ascendant to the Terms of Mars.

This Direction inclines the natives temper unto choler and rash actions, especially if Mars be ill dignified; otherwise if well dignified he causeth the native only to be martially inclined, and to delight in any martial Exercises.

The Ascendant to the Body of the Sun.

This direction causeth a general distemper in the body, especially it stirs up such Grievs or Infirmities which hath its original from the heart and brain brain, as Palpitations, sudden swoonings, dead Palsies, Cramps, pains in the head, and danger of some hurt or impediment to the eyes, especially the right eye; if the Sun be in a fiery sign it causeth a hot feverish distemper. This Direction imports love and respects from all Solar Persons, and the chiefest of men in power in any place, office, or employment whatsoever; the Sun sometimes signifieth the King; if the Lord of the Ascendant accord at the time when the effects doth operate, it giveth the greater assurance.

The Ascendant to the Trine or Sextile of the Sun.

This Direction oft-times produces unto the native new and eminent Friends, and the rather, in regard the Sun is Consignificator of the eleventh House; and if the Lord of the Ascendant doth accord, the native may expect some great preferment by office or employment from the King, Prince, or some eminent man in power; it also sheweth love and respects from any solar person.

The Ascendant to the Quartile or Opposition of the Sun.

This Direction produceth Effects clean contrary unto those friendly aspects before mentioned, as frowns and disrespectts from eminent men in power, or any solar persons, it produceth disrespectts from the natives Father, and a bad end unto any weighty Affairs, Bargains, or traffick by Sea and Land, by reason the Sun is Consignificator of the fourth House, it stirs up in the native solar distempers both to the body and eyes.

In regard the Sun hath no Terms allotted, I have directed the Ascendant unto the Faces of the Sun in the Signs.

From the tenth degree of Aries unto the twentieth degree is the face of the Sun, and causeth the native to be magnanimous, and to have an earnest desire to bear rule, and to have power and authority: also in the sign Scorpio from the tenth degree unto the twentieth degree is the face of the Sun, it causeth the native to be bold and deceitful, apt to scoff and jeer, and disdain others; and in Virgo in the first ten degrees is the face of the Sun, which inclineth the native unto good husbandry and thriving; also from the twentieth degree unto the thirtieth degree of Capricorn is the face of the Sun, and will incline the native unto covetousness, and an earnest desire to bear rule.

The Ascendant to the Body of Venus.

This Direction causeth the native to be cheerful and well contented, and to take delight in Female Company, he shall desire to banquet, feast and delight in Musick and Dancing, he shall earnestly desire to purchase new Apparel and Household-stuff: and if Venus be Lady of the seventh House, it imports Marriage. But if the native be married and capable, and Venus in a fruitful sign, it importeth a Child that year. But if Venus be unfortunate in the Radix, especially being Lady of the 6, 8, 12, or fourth Houses, then the native will be subject unto such infirmities which Venus causeth, as Surfeits, cury is Consignificator of the sixth House; also abused by false witness, and lying informations, especially by Mercurial persons, or young men; also the native will be subject unto such distempers of body which Mercury causeth, as Vertigoes, Madness, and all such infirmities which proceed from the brain; also dry Coughs and snalling in the head, forgetfulness and defects in the Lungs.

The ascendant to the Terms of Mercury.

This direction stirs up in the native qualities much after the nature of Mercury; as to be witty, studious, and to have an earnest desire after knowledge in Arts and Sciences.

The ascendant to the Body of the Moon.

If the Moon be well dignified at the birth, it sheweth good success in journeys or travel by Land or Sea, especially by water, gain in estate, and good from those who have dealing upon the waters, it also importeth Marriage and gain from Lunar Persons, and women in general. But if the Moon be ill dignified in the Radix, then it importeth danger by waters, and bad success in travelling either by Land or Sea, damage by Lunar Persons and such who live upon the waters, and by Women.

The ascendant to the Trine or Sextile of the Moon.

This Direction importeth health of body, and inclineth the native to be active in the Affairs of the world, and to be much employed to undertake some Journeys; it sheweth much good will and love from Females.

Females, and such who are employed about waters; it sometimes produces Marriage; and if married, then a Female Child that year; it also importeth a contented mind and healthfulness, and good respects from the common sort of people and his neighbours.

The ascendant to the Square or Opposition of the Moon.

This direction imports danger by waters, discord with the vulgar people; also jealousies and controversies with his wife; also unkindness and disrespect from the common sort of people, especially Females, contention with women, perhaps with his Mother; it sheweth bad success in Journeys or Sea Voyages, damage and loss by office or profession; it causeth Distempers in the body by flegmatick and corrupt humors, very apt unto surfeits and sickness, occasioned by gluttony, luxury and disorder of body, sometimes it causeth Lunar Infirmities with some pain, grief, or impediment in the left eye, especially if the Moon be ill dignified in the Radix.

The ascendant to the Faces of the Moon, throughout the Twelve Signs with their Significations, there being no Terms allotted either unto Sun or Moon.

From the tenth degree of Taurus unto the twentieth degree is the Face of the Sun, unto which degrees when by direction the ascendant doth meet withal, the native shall have a great desire to rule, and obtain power and authority over others, being busie about depopulations, and is averse unto good Husbandry, when the ascendant by direction cometh unto unto the face of the Moon, being the last ten degrees of Cancer, it causeth the native to delight in hunting, and to pursue his enemies, it sheweth gain by opposing them; the ascendant directed unto the first ten degrees of Libra, inclineth the native to be charitable, delighteth to do justice and righteous things, if directed unto and between the tenth and twentieth degree of Sagittary, the native will be subject unto some trouble of mind, jealousies and fearfulness; if unto the last ten degrees of Aquarius, it inclineth the native unto discontent, apt to repine, and given unto strife.

The ascendant unto the Dragons Head.

The Dragon's Head is of the nature of the Fortunes, and sheweth the native to be successful in affairs, and quiet in mind, it sheweth love and respects from Jovial and Venerian Persons. Many times upon this direction some benefit or inheritance befalls the native.

The ascendant unto the Dragon's Tail.

This direction importeth some danger of poison, or some pestilential Infirmity, some scandal unto the natives person; if it be in the House of Venus it argueth a Rupture, or the Cholick; if in Virgo, Belly-ach; in Scorpio, danger of the French Pox, or some poisonous Grief; in the second House, over-charged with Debts.

The

The ascendant unto Part of Fortune.

When the ascendant is directed unto Part of Fortune in the second House, then the native shall unexpectedly increase his Estate by his own industry; and if any of the other Planets doth at that time friendly behold the Part of Fortune, then the native may expect gain from such persons which the Planet doth signifie; if from the Sun by the bounty of the King, or some great man in power; if Jupiter behold the Part of Fortune, then by some eminent Lawyer or Clergyman; if from Venus, women; if Mercury, from Merchants, Clerks, or Scholars; you must also observe the disposer of the Part of Fortune in the Radix; and so judge accordingly.

The ascendant directed unto the second House.

This Direction importeth the purchasing of new Household-stuff and Goods.

The ascendant to the Cusp of the third House.

It inclineth the native to take many journies for pleasure, and to visit his Neighbours, Kindred and Brothers.

The ascendant to the Cusp of the fourth House.

This Direction importeth a change of Habitation, and if other testimonies concur, it sometimes importeth death. The fourth House being the end of all things.

The

The ascendant is also directed unto fix'd Stars, and likewise the Medium Cœli, Sun, Moon and Part of Fortune; and according unto the nature of those Stars, Judgment is given; and if other Directions accord, it causeth the directions to work the more forcible. The Table of the most eminent fix'd Stars are inserted next unto the directions in this Book.

The Mid-Heaven directed unto Promittors

The Mid-Heaven to the Body of Saturn.

THis Direction imports great damage and loss; it threatneth loss of Honour and Office, wrat from Princes and eminent men in power; it sometimes sheweth death; in regard Saturn is Consignificator of the eighth House, especially if other testimonies concur; if a Landlord, his Tenants will be apt to conspire against him: it sheweth ill success by dealing in Land or Husbandry, or Saturnian People. But if Saturn be strong and well dignified, especially if Lord of the Ascendant, second or eleventh Houses, it sheweth gain by dealing in Saturnine Men, or in Saturnine Commodities.

The Use of the Table.

IF any of the five Hilegical Places are in Conjunction with any of those fix'd Stars before-mentioned, or when they are directed unto Promittors, if the Promittor be near unto Conjunction with any fix'd star, or when the Ascendant or Mid-heaven doth come unto the Conjunction of any notable fix'd Star, then according unto the nature of that Star, by comparing with the Planets of the same nature, judgment may be given. And if any of those five Hilegical Places be directed unto any Promittor who is in Conjunction with any notable fix'd fix'd Star, then if the Star and Promittor be both of one nature, it causeth the Direction or Transire to operate the more forcible: but if the Star and Promittor be of contrary natures, then it somewhat abateth or altereth the Effect of the Direction, according unto the nature of the fix'd Star.

How to Erect a Figure aright for the time of Birth, that so the true Ascendant may be obtained, according unto Sign and Degree.

I Find that the opinion of most Astrologians, is, that in what Sign and Degree the Moon was in at the time of Conception, that very sign and degree, or the Sign opposite unto it, must be the proper Ascendant at the birth; and so by account according unto the usual time that the Child doth remain in the Womb, the Ascendant is framed.

The way by me used is as followeth: When any one desires to have the Nativity of a Child calculated, the time of birth being given, then if the sign and degrees ascending according unto the time given, compared with the Lord of the Hour, doth demonstrate the Figure to be radical, and that the Moles, Marks, Shape and Sex doth correspond, then according unto the Rules hereafter expressed, one may safely give judgment; but if otherwise, then take the nearest radical Figure according unto the estimate time given; and if possible, let the same sign at the estimate given ascend, provided that the Moles, Marks, Shape and Sex doth accord. The time of birth is oft-times hastened or retarded, however Clocks or Watches may fail, wherefore should we not vary the Ascendant as aforesaid, there could be no certain judgment given: the moles and marks of the body are taken from the sign and degrees ascending on the Cusp of the Horoscope, and likewise from the Cusp of the sixth House, and the signs where their Lords are, and likewise of the Moon. By this way I proved my own nativity, finding that it did exactly concur, and agree, having made proof thereof, by several accidents compared with Directions and yearly Revolutions.

Another way to rectifie the Ascendant.

The best and most assured way extant, especially if the native have lived some years, is to rectifie the Ascendant by accidents, especially such which have happened to the body, comparing the time of the accident with the time allotted, by directing the Ascendant unto the Promittor, allowing for every degree a year, until the Partil Aspect by account is to happen.

The Practice followeth.

Having either from the birth, or by accidents fitted your Ascendant, without which no true judgment can be given: then from the degrees on the Cusp of the first and tenth Houses, and likewise from the places of the Sun, Moon and Part of Fortune, directed unto Promittors, judgment is given concerning cerning the Accidents and Casualties of the natives whole life, with the time when each accident will in probability happen. Note that every degree of the Ascendant, Mid-Heaven or tenth House doth by account answer unto a year; and so by adding one degree yearly unto the Cusp of the Ascendant and Mid-Heaven, we must observe what Planet doth by any Partil Aspect answer unto it, or fix'd Star, if of any Note, and thereby give judgment of the events of that year; likewise we must yearly observe (by adding one degree as aforesaid) what Planets Terms doth answer unto it; if it be the Terms of a Fortune, it promiseth good; if to an infortune, ill; according unto their natures. Note that the Ascendant is directed unto Promittors by the Table of Oblique Ascensions, the Mid-Heaven by the Table Right Ascensions, the Sun, Moon, and Part of Fortune are directed under their respective Circles or Poles of Position, either by Oblique Ascension or Descension, according as they are posited in the ascending or descending parts of the Heavens, and have the same measure of time as aforesaid. Now that which we call a Promittor, is the Planet or fix'd Star which setteth forth the accident, unto whom any of the five Hilegical places are directed, be it by Conjunction, Sextile, Quartile, Trine or 8. The Trine and Sextile Aspects usually sheweth good to the native; the Square and Opposition ill: the 6 sheweth good, when joyned with good Planets; and ill, when joyned with the Infortunes. Those that intend to make practice herein, must frame a Speculum (as shall be shewed in order) and likewise take notice what effects every Aspect produceth, as being directed unto as Promittors, and likewise of the Transits of the Planets, and of what concernment concernment the degrees on the Cusps of the first and tenth House are, as being in the Terms of any Planet which you may find in the effects of Directions before-going, these things being premised, I shall proceed.

First, having by the Rules beforegoing taken notice of the effects of the five hilegical places, viz. the Ascendant, Mid Heaven, Sun, Moon, and Part of Fortune directed unto Promittors, with the time when each accident will in probability happen, which must be kept as a Reserve.

Then in the next place we must yearly set a Revolutional Figure, according unto the time of the Sun's return unto his place in the Radix, or the nearest unto it, provided that the Ascendant doth exactly agree with that at the birth; for let the Sun come to his place in the Radix at midnight, and the proper Ascendant of the Native be at noon twelve hours sooner or later, yet that shall not alter one day in the falling out of the accident, in giving judgment this way by a Revolutional Figure. In regard the time of each accident falleth out according unto the Planets motions, aspecting the five hilegical places, be it by transit or otherwise; which is not considerable, in regard the Effects doth usually operate, both before and after the Aspect, or time allotted by Direction from the Nativity.

The most assured way whereby to calculate any ones Nativity, as I have found by good experience, is wholly to depend upon the Revolutional Figure, both concerning the Natives Affairs, as having to do with others; and likewise concerning the Accidents or Casualties belonging unto his Body, and the time when each accident shall happen. Neither can I find any certainty in any other way in my practice:

Etice: for let one be never so exact in Directions if they are contradicted by Transits, Revolutions, Profections and contrary Influences of Planets, working at the time allotted, it produceth no assured effects; neither doth Revolutionary Figures set according unto the time of the Sun's return unto his place in the Radix, work any assured effects, if crossed by Directions, Transits and Profections: neither doth, or can profectional Figures work any assured effects, if crossed by Directions, Transits, and Revolutions, all which being considered, any rational man must needs think the way of my practice herein, must needs be the most assured way; for notwithstanding any Directions taken from the Birth, or whatsoever is adjudged by any Revolutionary or Profectional Figures; yet you see, if crossed by contrary Influences of the Planets, working at the time allotted, the effects cometh to nought. And in Decumbitures of sick persons you shall always find the Disease by the Moon, the Ascendant, sixth House, or their Lords afflicted, especially in acute Diseases, whatever Directions from the birth doth shew; I find by good experience that the Revolutionary Figure set as aforesaid, in making the Ascendant exactly to agree with that at the birth, is the most assured way extant, and is the way by me practised, wherein each Planet shall be Promittor unto the five Hilegical Places by their motions and transits through the Zodiack; and at the day and time when any Planet by motion doth bear any Aspect unto those hilegical places, that shall be the day and time when the accident will in all probability happen. By this way having obtained the proper Ascendant, I have usually set forth the accidents of the whole year, without taking notice of any any Directions from the birth. But any rational man must needs think, that where Directions taken from the birth doth co-operate with revolutionary Figures, it will cause the effects to work the stronger, and the Artist may with the more confidence give judgment, and be confirmed therein. Now the way of giving judgment by a Revolutionary Figure, according unto the Planets, Transits and Motional Aspects, is the same in effect, as by Directions taken from the Birth. Note that in every Revolutionary Figure the Sun keeps his place in the Zodiack as at the birth, but all other Planets and the Part of Fortune varies, and are set according, as you find them, and all the seven Planets are as Promittors unto the Ascendant and Mid-Heaven by their motional Aspects; and Saturn, Jupiter, Mars, Venus, Mercury and Luna unto the place of the Sun, and the Sun, Saturn, Jupiter, Mars, Venus and Mercury unto the place of the Moon, and all the seven Planets unto the Part of Fortune. But especial regard must be had unto the Lord of the Ascendant, or Almuten of the Figure; for as he is aspected of any Aspect, be the Aspect good or evil, it shall much concern the native; for (as I have elsewhere expressed) the Lord of the Ascendant or Almuten of the Figure shall be of principal concernment in the natives actings or actions, as having to do with others; notwithstanding the ascendant chiefly concerns the Accidents or Casualties appertaining unto the Body; for should the Native visit, or have business with any Kinsman, Friend or others, when their Significators are either good or bad aspected, without doubt they will accord accordingly; and so Quartile or Opposition Aspects for the most part produceth Wrangling and Discord, whereas the Con-

Conjunction, Sextile and Trine Aspects, produce friendship, and friendly Conclusions.

Concerning the Aspects of the Planets.

There are generally but five Aspects used, as being of any force in Nativities, viz. Conjunction, Sextile, Quartile, Trine, Opposition; but particularly in case of Decumbitures, and sometimes in directions from the birth, and sometimes the Semi-Sextile, or Semi-Quadrate are used: the First being the Part of Love, the other of Enmity: and upon a Critical or Judicial Day, if the Fortunes do interpose their Semi-sextile Aspect, altho the sick be martially visited, yet the sick oft-time shall not at that time depart; and contrariwise, if the Infortunes do interpose their Semi-quadrate at the same time the sick doth oft-times depart. But as concerning any other Aspects by some Astrologers mention'd, I find them of no force.

For the better Explanation of what is aforesaid, I here set down my Calculation of a Gentleman's Nativity, as followeth.

For

The person of the Native is described by the sign Sagittary ascending, viz. one of a fair stature, strong and well composed, face oval, but full and rashed, fleshed, of a sanguine complexion, his hair a sandy brown. The Degrees ascending being the Terms of Venus, gives light hair: the Sun in the Ascendant, in Sextile to Mars, and Semi-sextile to Jupiter, Lord of the Ascendant, and in Conjunction with Mercury in the Ascendant, sheweth much of his qualities, wit and conditions, viz. one very witty, ingenious, affable, and of wise and sober behaviour, merry and chearful, yet sometimes inclined to choler. The Planet Jupiter is Lord of the Ascendant and Geniture, shall concern his actings and actions, as having to do with others, &c.

The next thing considerable is to frame a Speculum, and therein to set down the Cusps of the first and tenth Houses, and likewise to place the Sun, Moon, Part of Fortune, Dragon's Head and Dragon's Tail with the other five Planets, in Signs and Degrees as they are at the time of birth in the Figure expressed. Note that the Terms of the Planets are found by the Table of Essential Dignities beforegoing.

The Use of the foregoing Table.

When any Planet by Motion or Transit doth come unto those places, answering unto the Signs over head, according unto the nature of the Aspects judgment is given. The Conjunction, Trine and Sextile of the Fortunes unto the Cusp of any House, produceth good according unto the nature of the Planet; the Sign and House whereof he is Lord being considered; and the Quartile and Opposition Aspects, especially of the Infortunes produceth evil, &c. But the Transits of the Planets unto the Cusps of the Houses are of greatest efficacy and conserment, as shall be shewed in order.

The Way of Practice followeth.

The first thing considerable is to take notice of the effects of the 5 hilegical places directed unto Promittors, and likewise of the Planets amongst themselves, together with the day and year, when each accident will according unto Rules happen, always observing to direct the Ascendant by the Table of Oblique Ascensions (according unto the Latitude of the place where the native is born) unto Promittors, and likewise unto the Cusps of the second and fourth Houses. That which is called a Promittor is the Planet or fix'd star unto which any of the five hilegical places are directed unto. The measure of time is (usually) by allowing for every degree a year.

year, and for every five minutes a month. Example.

In the Figure before-going suppose I was minded to direct the Ascendant to the Body of Mercury, who is in the Ascendant in fourteen degrees, thirty minutes of the sign Sagittary, which by the Table of Oblique Ascensions for the Latitude of fifty one degrees, thirty two minutes, being according unto the elevation of the Pole Arctick, under which this Native was born, produceth two hundred eighty four degrees, forty six minutes, which must be set part by it self; and next beneath you must set down the Oblique Ascension of the Ascendant, answering unto nine degrees in the sign Sagittary, which is two hundred seventy seven degrees, thirty six minutes; then subtract the one from the other, what remains is the Ark of Direction, viz. seven degrees, ten minutes.

Which being converted into time, allowing for every degree a year, and for every five minutes a month, cometh unto seven years, and two months: at which time the native will be subject unto such accidents as that Direction produceth, as appeareth in the effects of Directions foregoing, it inclines the native to be studious, apt and willing to learn his his Book, being a Child, he shall also obtain the love of his Master and Fellow-Scholars: had the native been of elder years, it sheweth gain by any office, trade or profession, but more especially preferment by the natives wit and learning, it sheweth love and respects from Clerks and Scholars, gain by bargains; it inclineth the native earnestly to study both Law and Divinity, with some desire to travel, especially for gain, or to better himself in Learning; had Mercury been Lord of the fourth, sixth, eighth or twelfth Houses, it might unhappily have produced some Mercurial Infirmities: what those are you may find elsewhere in my Book of Physick.

And as you direct the Ascendant unto Promittors by the Table of Oblique Ascensions, so you must direct the Mid-Heaven by the Table of Right Ascensions, the Sun, Moon, and Part of Fortune by their Circles of Positions and Oblique Ascensions or Descensions, and so likewise the Planets amongst themselves, all which Directions must be orderly set down according unto the year, month and day, which the accident by account is to happen. This being kept as a reserve, will be useful whereby to compare with the natives yearly revolutionary Figures; for when by the revolutionary Figure any Accident or Casualty is by account to happen, being compared with Directions, if they accord, it will cause the effects to operate the more forcible, and the Artist may with the greater confidence give judgment therein. But I find it not safe to confide only in giving judgment by the effects of the five hilegical Places directed unto Promittors; for except they accord with yearly revolutionary Figures, they work no assured effects, especially if crossed by the contrary influences of the Planets, working at the time allotted, as is before expressed. Now in Revolutionary Figures there can be no such uncertainty, by reason, in this way of giving judgment wherein each Plan. by his motion doth transit, or bear any Aspect unto the five hilegical places, or unto each other amongst themselves, that is the very day and time when the accident by account is to happen: and as at the time of Decumbitures of sick persons, likewise when the native falls sick, or is any way afflicted in his body, the Ascendant, sixth House, their Lords, or Moon afflicted, shall discover the grief with its cause and termination, as I have sufficiently expressed in my Book of Physick; and this without taking notice of any Direction from the birth: likewise if the native be crossed in his Affairs or Dealings with others. It may easily be discovered by the Lord of the Ascendant, or Almuten of the Figure, as being in Quartile or Opposition unto initial Planets for the time being. But of this I have sufficiently treated already.

I shall in the next place instruct the friendly Reader according unto my usual way of Practice, how to erect and give judgment by a yearly Revolutionary Figure as followeth.

A Revolutionary Figure set for the Natives eighteenth year of age, shewing what Accidents are like to befall the Native in that year.

This Figure was set for the nearest time of the Sun's return unto his place in the Radix; and is placed therein according as at the time of birth, also the Cusps of the Houses are placed according unto the Figure at the birth; but all the Planets (except cept the Sun) are placed in Signs and Degrees, according as we find them for the time being, as also Part of Fortune, Dragon's Head and Tail.

In this way of giving judgment by a Revolutionary Figure, as I have already declared, the five hilegical places, shall be as Promittors unto the motional Aspects of the Planets; and when by an Ephemeris you find that the Planets do bear any Aspect unto those hilegical places, that shall be the day and time when the accident shall happen; and herein judgment is given in effect according as when those five hilegical places are directed unto Promittors. Now to the end that we readily find in what place of the Zodiack each Aspect will happen, I have framed a Speculum or Table as followeth.

Note also that when the Planets do transfit the Cusp of any House, or bear any Aspect unto the Cusp of any House herein, judgment must be given according unto the nature of the Aspect and Planet; and herein the Conjunction, Quartile or Opposition of the Infortunes unto the Cusp of any House are all evil in effect, as the ♂, ♁, or * Aspect of the Fortunes are all good in effect, and doth produce good or evil accidents to befall the native according unto their natures and significations of the Houses whereof they are Lords, and sometimes the Infortunes when they are in friendly aspects may be fortunate, and the Fortunes when in bad Aspects may be unfortunate. But of this I shall say more hereafter.

Th

Directions. But as unto the other ten Houses, when by Transit or otherwise they have any aspect thereunto, or unto each other amongst themselves, judgment must be given according unto the Sign and House whereof they are Lords: and if the Infortunes do bear any evil aspect, or do transit the Cusp of any House, it produceth damage or mischief to the native according unto the nature of the House; if the Planet be peregrine, it's the worse; as if to the first House, damage to his person; if to the second House, his estate; the third House, by his Kindred, Neighbors, or Brethren; if the fourth House, from his Father, or by tillage of ground, planting, or building, or by having to do with ancient people, and so of the rest. But if the evil Planets be fortunate, and bear any friendly aspect unto the Cusps of the Houses, it sheweth good success to the native, either to his person, estate or otherwise, according unto the nature and quality of the Planet, Sign and House whereof he is Lord, especially if well dignified in the Radix: also if the Fortunes by transit or otherwise do bear any friendly Aspect to the Cusps of the Houses by their motions, it sheweth good to the native, according unto the nature of the Planet, Sign and House whereof he is Lord.

Generally, if either Jupiter, Venus, Sol or Luna do transit or bear any friendly aspect unto the Ascendant, Mid-Heaven, or to their own places in the Radix, or in the Revolutionary Figure, or to the Lord of the Ascendant, or Almuten of the Figure in the Radix, or Revolutionary Figure, those days shall be accounted successful to the native: but if Saturn or Mars doth transit or bear any evil Aspect unto unto those places aforesaid, then those days shall be accounted evil and unsuccessful to the native.

Concerning the Aspects of the Planets unto each other.

Herein the Lords of the Ascendant, second and tenth Houses shall be of greatest concernment, as unto the natives estate, honor and actions; and when any other Planet doth bear any Aspect unto them, then according unto the nature of the Planet and Aspect, considering the Sign and House whereof they are Lords, judgment is given. Example by the Figure, if Mars, who is Lord of the fourth and twelfth Houses, should be in Quartile or Opposition unto Jupiter, Lord of the Ascendant, it sheweth damage to the native by dealing with a martial man, also it sheweth damage according unto the nature of the fourth and twelfth Houses; what those Houses doth signifie you may find elsewhere. And if Mars be in Quartile or Opposition to Saturn, Lord of the second, it imports damage unto his estate; if unto Venus Lady of the tenth, in his honor or profession. But on the contrary, if either the Fortunes or Infortunes bear any friendly aspect unto the Lords of those houses before-mentioned, it sheweth good success to the native by dealing with, or having any business to do with them who are signified by those Planets, and likewise by dealing in such Commodities which those Planets owneth.

The

Mars to the place of Saturn inclineth the native to be dogged, and given to quarrel, and to neglect his business, it threat'neth a wound in his face, and sheweth ill success unto the native, or his Father.

Mars to the place of Jupiter, imports gain by Kindred, Neighbours, or some Clergy-man, or eminent Lawyer.

Mars to the place of Sol, sheweth wrath from men in great power, it inclineth the native unto choler, also vex'd by martial men.

Mars to the place of Venus, inclineth the native unto lust, and thereby apt unto Venerian Diseases.

Mars to the place of Mercury, the native will be in danger of trouble by reason of some unadvised words or speeches.

Mars to the place of the Moon, inclineth the native unto company keeping, and to travel small Journeys, slander'd by Women.

V E N U S.

When Venus comes unto her own place in the Radix, which happeneth once a year, all things proceed well, and the native will be delighted in Venus-sports, and is healthful.

Venus to the place of Saturn, it inclineth the native unto acts of Venus, but not with so much ability of performance; it somewhat inclineth the native unto melancholy.

Venus to the place of Jupiter, it imports love from Jupiter-persons, profit by the deceased, and increase of substance.

Venus to the place of Mars, inclineth the native unto unto Marriage, and to delight in Female Company and play.

Venus to the place of Sol, according as the Sun is well or ill dignified in the Radix, judge good or ill from solar persons with preferment.

Venus to the place of Mercury, according as he is well or ill dignified in the Radix, so judge good or bad success in Learning, or by dealing with Mercorial persons.

Venus to the place of the Moon, the native increaseth in new acquaintance, especially with Female and Lunar persons with gain from them.

M E R C U R Y.

When Mercury returns unto his own place, which is once a year, it sheweth preferment by the natives wit and industry, with respects from Mercorial persons.

Mercury to the place of Saturn, sheweth gain by Husbandry, and ancient people.

Mercury to the place of Jupiter, importeth gain by merchandising, office or trade, or travel, especially if strong in the Radix.

Mercury to the place of Mars, inclineth the native unto rash actions.

Mercury to the place of Sol, it importeth honor and profit by learning and industry.

Mercury to the place of Venus, it inclines the native unto Venus-delights; but if the native be a Scholar, unto Poetry.

Mercury to the place of the Moon, inclines the native unto travel, it produceth some Employments profitable by friends and acquaintance.

MOON,

M O O N.

When the Moon cometh unto her own place in the Radix, she portends much good or ill according unto what she promiseth at the birth.

Moon to the place of Saturn, sheweth discord in general with Women, and some troubles about Wills or Legacies, increase of acquaintance with old women.

Moon to the place of Jupiter, importeth gain by Journies or Voyages.

Moon to the place of Mars, it sometimes produceth martial Diseases; it stirreth up Choler and Differences with Women, it sheweth bad travelling.

Moon to the place of Sol, imports some troubles whereby enforced to remove from one place to another; it sheweth some defect in the eyes; in a nocturnal geniture it inclineth the native unto magnanimous and honourable actions.

Moon to the place of Venus, inclineth the native unto Venus delights, and is healthful.

Moon to the place of Mercury, it sheweth gain by office, trade, or industry, also a desire to travel.

Above all we must take notice of the Lord of the Ascendant, or Almuten of the Figure; for when he doth transit the places of other Planets, or other Planets come unto his place, it shall be of greater concernment to the native than any other transit whatsoever, and shall work the more powerful and stronger effects, according unto what is afore said.

Note

Note that when any of the Planets return unto their own places in the Radix, the effects doth continue no longer in force than their Orbs doth last, and so those effects of the higher Planets, by reason of their slow motion, will continue longer in force than the lower Planets.

The Way of Practice followeth.

First having by the Figure at birth set down in order such accidents which are in probability to happen in each year, during the Natives life, being taken from the effects of the five hilegical places directed unto Promittors, and from the effects of the Terms which yearly are allotted unto, and of the Terms which yearly are allotted unto, and from those places, by adding yearly one degree unto their places in the Radix, together with the Lord of the Frydary, and Lord or Almuten of the years revolution. Note, that according unto the natures of those Planets who are Lords of the Frydary, and of the year, will the native be much inclined. The Lord of the Frydary is thus found out, if the birth be by day, then the Sun rules the first seven years, and Venus the next, Mercury the next, according as they are situate in their Spheres. But if the birth by night, then the Moon rules the first seven years, and Saturn the next, and Jupiter the next, which Planet Jupiter doth according unto this account belong unto the native ever since his fourteenth year of age, by reason his birth was before the Sun's Rising.

The next thing considerable is (having fram'd a Speculum according unto the Revolutionary Figure) to take notice by an Ephemeris, when the Planets by their motions do transit or bear any aspect unto any of those five hilegical places, or unto their own places in the Radix, and likewise when they do transit, or bear any aspect unto the hilegical places for that year, or Cusps of the Houses, or pass by their own places, or places of other Planets, or fix'd Stars of Note in the Radix, having an especial regard unto the Lord of the Ascendant, and how he is with other Planets aspected, which will be of principal concernment, in regard of the natives having to do with others, as I have elsewhere mentioned. By this way, regarding only the five usual Aspects, by reason of the Moon's quick motion, you may find the Accidents which daily do concern the Native, which being compared with Directions from the birth, when any notable accident is like to befall the native; if they accord, then the Artist may with the more confidence give judgment, always adhering unto the time when the Planets by their motions do transit, or make Partil Aspects unto those places before-mentioned. I shall not trouble my self, or Reader, to insert the whole Calculation of this Nativity; but only for one month whereby to instruct the Student herein, and so to acquaint him with my way of practice; for having by one months observation set down the method used, one may by the same Rule go through with the whole year, and so during life. Note that those Aspects which are caused by the Moon do not continue in force above twenty four hours, by reason of her quick motion; but those Aspects which are from higher Planets last sometimes a week or two, or more, by reason of the moiety of their Orbs doth continue so long before and after separation, and their Effects shall continue in force so long accordingly, notwithstanding standing the Moon may interpose for a day, as aforesaid, wherefore we must take notice, and always remember those Effects caused by the Moon (which continueth but a day) shall not make void those grand Aspects caused by the higher Planets, only the native may for that day only take notice thereof; and if the accident, according unto the Effects of Directions, from the birth, doth co-operate with the transits, or aspects of the Moon, or higher Planets, it causeth the effects to work the stronger, and the Artist may with the more confidence give judgment, as I have already declared.

Nativity, and so to proceed for the whole year, and during life; for I desire not to trouble the Reader, or my self, any further than what is needful for the setting forth of my way of practice herein. In regard there is no particular direction taken from the birth to operate this month more than those general Observations which concern the whole year, as followeth. I shall briefly insert them, and so proceed unto those particular judgments which will dayly concern the Natives Body and Affairs.

The Effects of Directions which concern the whole year, beginning November 29, 1669.

1. The Ascendant in the Radix is directed unto the Terms of Mars. This Direction inclineth the Native unto choler and rash Actions, to be martially inclined, and to delight in martial Affairs.

The Mid-Heaven by account comes unto the Terms of Mars. It sheweth damage and loss by rash Actions and martial Exercises.

3. The Mid-Heaven by direction comes unto the Trine of the Part of Fortune, which sheweth increase of wealth by some office, trade, or dealings.

4. The Moon being in the Terms of Mars, inclineth the native unto choler and rash actions, and to be martially inclined.

5. The Sun to the Terms of Venus, incites the native unto mirth, and all Venerial Delights.

6. Jupiter Lord of the Frydary, inclines the Native's temper to be Jovial, and to delight in honest and religious mens company, and such persons who are under Jupiter.

314 An Introduction to Astrology.

ry, it might unhappily have produced some Mercurial Distempers.

Venus ad Trine Part of Fortune. Dec. 7.

In the Revolution imports gain from eminent Ladies, and by dealing in Venus-Commodities, or with Venus-persons.

Venus ad Trine M.C. & ad Sextile Ascendant. Dec. 8, 9.

This Direction imports extraordinary good to the native, as thriving by any office, trade or profession, or by dealing in any Venus-Commodities, it sheweth love and content with, and from all Venus-persons; it oft-times produceth marriage, and a Child that year, if Directions from the birth do co-operate.

Sol ad Sextile Mars. Dec. 10.

In regard that the Sun was strong in the Radix, it imports love and respect from martial men, who are in great power and command, sometimes an office or place of great trust is settled on the native, it would have produced honor and gain by martial Employments, if not crossed by those general Directions for the year before-mentioned.

This Direction holds in force all this month.

Mercury

An Introduction to Astrology. 315

Mercury ad Cusp Ascendant, & Sextile M.C. Decemb. 11.

This Direction inclines the Native unto study, it imports gain by bargains and thriving by the native's wit and industry, love from Scholars, Clerks, or any Mercurial persons, also gain by Messages, Embassages, Accounts, or being Factor for others.

This Direction is in force so long as the Moity of his Orbs lasteth.

Venus ad Trine Luna in the Radix. Dec. 13.

It sheweth love generally from women, and the native's children; it oft-times produceth marriage to the native's content; it imports health and prosperity in all Affairs, of what occupation soever, and gain by dealing in Venus-Commodities, and good esteem by any Venus-persons, whether male or female. This Direction holds in force so long before and after Partil Aspects, as the Moity of Venus-Orbs doth last: and so of the rest.

Sol ad Sextile Luna in the Radix. Dec. 15.

This Direction imports love, favour and friendship from eminent men in power, especially where the Moon hath any relation to the native; it sometimes produceth Marriage, and a rich Wife, or Husband, if the native be a Female; also love and respects from the common people, with increase of Friends. If the native be a Courtier, he shall be employed employed as Ambassador or Commissioner for his King or Prince.

316 An Introduction to Astrology.

Mercury ad place Sol in the Radix. Dec. 17.

It importeth honor and profit by Learning and Industry.

Mars ad Trine Luna in the Radix. Dec. 17.

According as Mars is well or ill dignified, or at the time when the Aspect falleth, so will it add, or diminish the good intended; it inclines the native unto martial actions, and to be conversant with martial men; it sheweth love and respect from eminent martial men in power, gain by martial Exercises, or by dealing in such Commodities which are under Mars, only crossed by Directions for the whole year.

Sol ad Cusp Second House. Dec. 19.

Imports increase of estate by industry.

Sol ad Opposition Jupiter, Lord of the Ascendant. Decemb. 20.

In regard Jupiter is Lord of the Ascendant, this Direction will much concern the native, it will be in force so long as the Moiety of their Orbs doth last; it imports loss of honor and estate by means of

of a Solar Man, or by dealing in Solar Commodities, it imports discord between the Native and his Father, damage and loss by traffick at Sea or Land, perhaps some trouble about Religion; for Sol is Lord of the ninth, a bad time to visit, or to have dealing with Solar persons.

Luna ad Trine M. C. & Trine Saturn & Venus ad Part For. Radix. Dec. 24.

It imports honor and esteem by and from aged or Saturnine persons, or by dealing in Saturnine Commodities, thriving by good Husbandry; it imports gain from eminent Ladies, or by dealing in Venus-Commodities, or with Venus-persons. The two first Aspects last ten days.

Luna ad Opposition Sol & Opposition Sol in the Radix. Dec. 25.

It imports disrespect from all Solar persons of what rank or quality soever; a bad time to deal, or have to do with Solar Men, or Solar Commodities that day. As to the native it sheweth an ill day of Commerce with most people.

Mercury ad Sextile Par. For. in the Radix. December 26.

It imports gain by Learning, Art, or Industry, gain by bargains, profit by Servants or Agents, by reason Mercury is Consignificator of the sixth House.

Mars

Mars ad Trine Jupiter, Lord of the Ascendant. December 27.

This Direction imports great love and respects from eminent martial men; and the native, by the means of an eminent martial man in power, shall evade that bad Direction before-going, and the rather because Mars is exalted in Capricorn, the Sign where the Sun was at the Opposition aforefaid; also Mars is more strong and powerful than the Sun, and is Consignificator of the tenth House, and was posited in the tenth in the Radix, a rich eminent Friend may help the native, but a poor one cannot: also Mars at the time of the Aspect is strong, both by House, Triplicity and Face, it inclines the native unto martial Exercises, and he shall gain honor thereby. This Direction holds in force till the influence is over.

Mercury ad Sextile Venus. Dec. 29.

Mercury being Lord of Part of Fortune, and Venus Lady of the tenth, importeth honor and great gain either by office, trade or profession, wit and industry, or by dealing in Venus-Commodities, or with Venus-persons.

Venus ad Sol Radix. December 30.

This Direction inclineth the native unto mirth, and to delight in Female Company; and according
as

as Mercury is well or ill dignified in the Radix, the native may expect good or ill by Venus-persons, or by dealing in Venus-Commodities.

Some Observations concerning Revolutionary Figures.

Generally in Revolutionary Figures, wherein judgment is given by the Planets motional Aspects and Transits: the Moon by reason of her quick motion doth daily produce sufficient matter to be taken notice of; yet except she is aspected by other Planets, suitable unto that Aspect which she beareth unto any of the hilegical places, it is in vain to give judgment thereby; but rather to adhere to those Aspects and Transits of the higher Planets, then in force, for of her self she doth work but little, or to no effect, in regard her chief office is to bring down the influences of the higher Planets unto us; wherefore it will be most convenient to pass over all those Aspects, or Transits of the Moon, except she be aspected by one of the higher Planets accordingly, or that some notable Direction from the birth doth co-operate therewith. I have oft-times by a Revolutionary Figure, without taking notice of any Direction from the birth, directed the Planets by motion unto the five hilegical places, together with observing their Transits and Aspects unto each other, and thereby have set forth the accidents of the whole year: also sometimes by a horary horary question it may be done, provided that the Figure be radical, and that the Ascendant with its Lord doth personate the querent, the shape, marks and moles of the body corresponding, especially if the Figure be set for the nearest time unto the native's birth. But except the true Ascendant be obtained, it's impossible to give judgment aright, either by Directions from the birth, or by any Revolutionary Figure, or horary question, wherein the native or querent's body and affairs (as having to do with others) are concerned for the whole year. Neither is it possible without a true Ascendant to elect or chuse a fit time for the undertaking of any work, matter, or thing whatsoever; nor yet to discover the good or evil days of Trade or Commerce with others; nor yet to discover the times of any dangerous sickness incident to the body; neither can any Artist discover by the Moon afflicted at the time of Decumbitures, whether Witchcraft or Sorcery have been wrought upon the Patient, without the true Ascendant obtained. If the Reader, or Student in this Art will take so much pains in any Nativity, as to compare those Directions taken from the birth with those motional Aspects and Transits which proceed from the Revolutionary Figure, as I have already declared, it may cause the Artist to be the more confident in giving judgment upon the Effects: always chiefly adhering unto those motional Aspects of the Planets, unto the five hilegical places, or unto the Cusps of the Houses, or amongst themselves by Transits or otherwise; also having an especial regard unto the Lord of the Ascendant, and how he is aspected with other Planets, it being of principal concernment in regard of the native's actings, or actions, as having to do with others, as I have oft times declared, I could have been more copious herein both by inserting those Directions at large, taken from the birth; and likewise have proceeded upon the Revolutionary Figure for the whole year. But considering that it would too much enlarge my Book, and likewise well knowing that what I have written will be sufficient to instruct the friendly Reader herein, I did forbear.

A Brief Judgment upon the Twelve Houses.

Sometimes when the Native or their Parents desire to have a Nativity calculated, and are not willing to be at much charge, this way may give content: and I have oft-times proceeded no further, and yet the native has been well satisfied therewith. It might be time well spent, to compare this way of giving judgment, with those Directions and Judgments taken from the Nativity and Revolutionary Figures, and to observe how they accord.

The First House.

This House concerns the native's person, the Lord thereof, and Planets therein, with their Aspects, sheweth his qualities, ingenuity and conditions. First, The Sign Sagittary ascending represents sents one of a fair stature, full and fleshy, face oval, and of a sanguine complexion, hair a kind of yellowish brown, sometimes Chestnut-colour; the degrees ascending at birth, being the Terms of Venus, causeth a light brown hair, the Sun and Mercury both in the Ascendant in Trine to Mars, and unto Jupiter the Lord thereof, sheweth his qualities, wit and conditions. The Sun gives affability; Mercury wit; Jupiter sobriety; Mars choler; of all which the native shall participate; and to my knowledge they do correspond with his temper; for he is of affable behaviour, and of carriage witty and ingenious, yet cholerick upon small provocation; the Ascendant no way afflicted, the Sun strong therein, in Semisextile to Jupiter, Lord thereof, argueth health and long life.

The Second House.

This House no way afflicted, and Jupiter Lord of the Ascendant therein, argueth gain by the native's industry; also Saturn Lord thereof in the eighth, in Trine to the Ascendant, argueth gain by the death of an ancient or Saturnine person: the time when this Gift or Legacy may be expected, is by account from the Ascendant unto Saturn the eighth House, allowing five years for every House: now Saturn being five Houses from the Ascendant, accounting backwards, contrary unto the nomination of the Houses, argueth that about the twenty third year of age the Native may expect this Legacy; for Saturn is about the middle of the eighth House. In regard Saturn is Lord of the second and third Houses, it sheweth that this Gift or Legacy may happily happily come from a Brother or Kinsman, or one of near relation.

The Third House.

Both Part of Fortune and Dragon's Head in this House, and Saturn Lord of the Second and Third in Trine to the Ascendant, argueth a continuance of love with gain from the Native's Brethren and Kindred; it also confirmeth the judgment before going upon the second House.

The Fourth House.

No Planet in the fourth, and Mars Lord thereof in Trine to the Ascendant, and in Quartile to Jupiter Lord of the Ascendant, argueth some difference with a pretended martial Friend, or with his Father, and the rather in regard Mars is Lord of the eleventh and twelfth Houses, so well as of the fourth. But the Trine of Venus to the Moon, who disposeth of Mars, sheweth that by means of a Venus-body this difference shall be ended. The Difference will arise concerning Lands or Heritage, or otherwise about great Cattle, buying, selling, or trading therein. This to happen about the fifteenth year of age, or else about the fortieth year of age; for Mars is in the tenth, and Lord of the fourth.

The Fifth House.

Venus Lady thereof in Trine to the Moon, in a fruitful sign, argueth the native shall have Children, and they of comely shape, and they shall be well preferred; for Venus is strong in the tenth.

The Sixth House.

Venus Lady of the sixth in the tenth strong, sheweth good and profitable servants. Saturn in Quartile to the Cusp of the sixth, may unhappily produce some Saturnine Grief, and this about the twenty second year of age, Saturn being in the eighth House.

The Seventh House.

This House concerns Marriage, and the native's publick Enemies; the Degrees ascending being the Terms of Venus, and the Moon Consignificator of the seventh; applying unto the Sextile of Jupiter, Lord of the Ascendant, and he in the Terms of Mercury, Lord of the seventh, Mercury being also partly female, and in the Ascendant, argueth that the native shall marry, double bodied Signs on the Cusps of the Ascendant, and seventh House, and Jupiter Lord of the Ascendant, disposing of Mercury, Lord of the seventh, and of the Moon, Consignificator of the seventh, argueth two Wives, perhaps three, if he marry early; for Venus, a Female Planet is in the tenth, and will in all probability ty bury them all; by reason they will be all combust before Jupiter: if he marry not very young, then his first Wife will be obtained about thirty years of age; the second about fifty, as by the Account before-mentioned. Also he shall overcome all his publick Enemies, by reason Jupiter doth dispose both of the Moon and Mercury.

The Eighth House.

The Moon Lady of the Eighth, in Quartile to Mercury, Lord of the seventh, and to the Ascendant, argueth some Controversie or Law-suit, either about the Legacy formerly mentioned, or the portion of his Wife (especially if marry young) and this to happen about the twenty third year of age; also Saturn being in the eighth in Quartile to the Cusp of the sixth, and the Moon Lady of the eighth in Quartile to Mercury, argueth the native's death shall proceed from Mercurial and Saturnine Infirmities; but Saturn shall chiefly be anaretic, or killing Planet, as located in the 8th. his first mortal time is about forty eight years of age, at which time by the account aforesaid, it cometh to the place of the Moon, Lady of the Eighth, and the Ascendant, by Direction comes to the Quartile of Mars, Lord of the fourth, about that time. There is one other mortal time about the age of sixty, at what time according unto the Account aforesaid we come to the Body of Mercury, who is in Quartile to the Moon, Lady of the Eighth; about which time the Ascendant comes by Direction to the Opposition of Saturn, which Account and Directions, if the native evade, he may live until the seventy fifth, or afterwards

POST-SCRIPT.

IN regard in this way of giving judgment by Revolutionary Figures, we have daily and weekly so much variety of matter to work upon; therefore we must chiefly adhere unto those Transits and motional Aspects of the higher Planets, whose effects will be of more force, and of longer continuance than those Transits and motional Aspects caused by the lower Planets; and except the effects caused by the lower Planets doth correspond with the higher, we may in a great measure pass them by, especially those caused by the Moon, whose effects cannot last above a day or two; neither can it make void those grand effects caused by the higher Planets. But if by their Transits and motional Aspects they do agree in effects with the higher Planets, and that the Effects of Directions according unto measure of time doth accord, or near unto it. Then according unto those days and times when the Planets make any Partil Aspect unto any of the hilegical places, the effects shall most forcibly operate. But whosoever doth intend to make practice herein must mix reason with Art; for when according unto the Effects of Directions, or by Revolutionary Figures we give judgment, should we not take notice of the Rank and and Quality of the Native, and likewise consider his age, the Artift may egregiously err: as instance in this Geniture, where we direct the Ascendant to the Body of Mercury: wherefore judgment must be given accordingly.

I could have been more copious herein. But considering other worthy Authors have already even in our own Language, written both largely and learnedly thereupon, I did at present acquiesce herein.

I wish a Blessing upon your Studies, and I pray God for to bless us all, that our thoughts and minds may be lifted up above the Stars, & that we may study both to know and serve Him aright who hath made both us and them, that so through the Merits of Jesus Christ, in the end we may enjoy that Heavenly Benediction, which God through his Mercy hath allotted unto his Saints and Servants for evermore. Amen. Vale.
